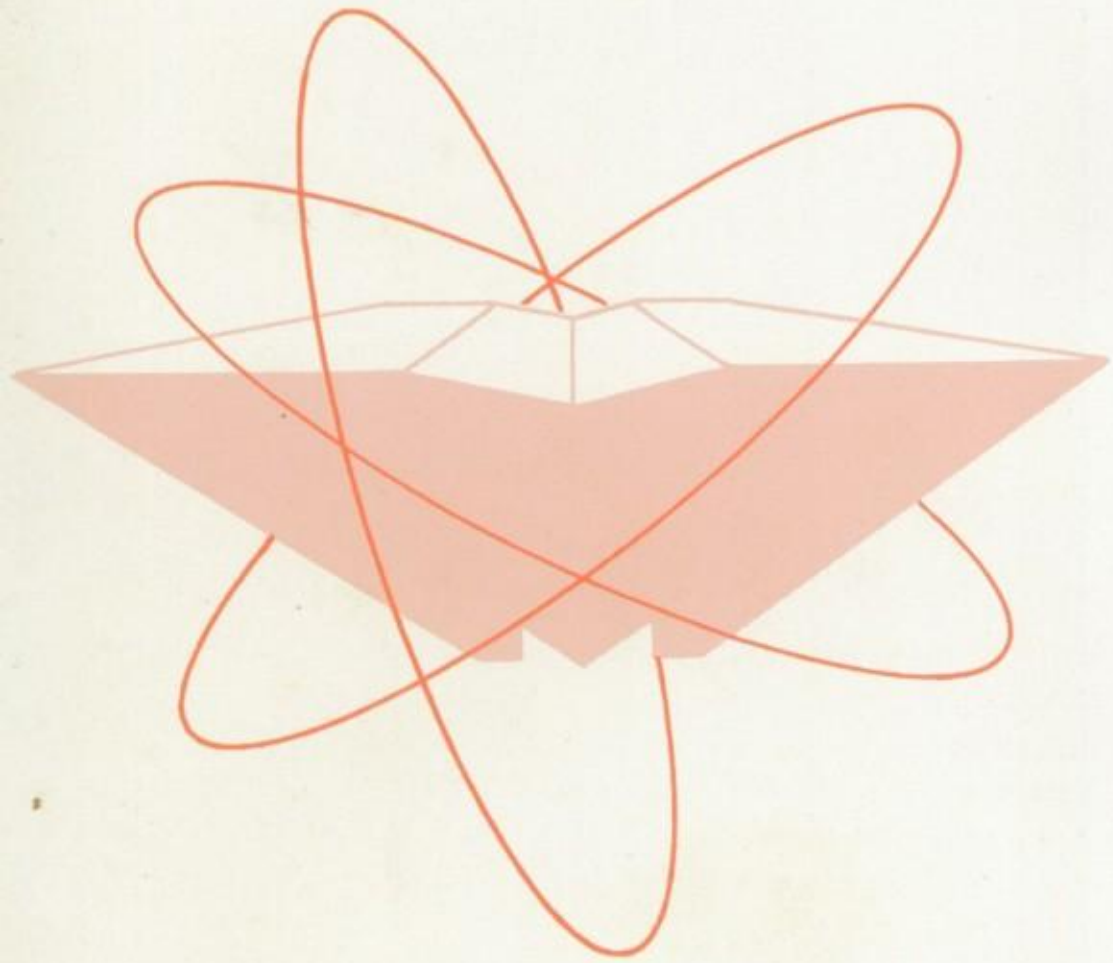
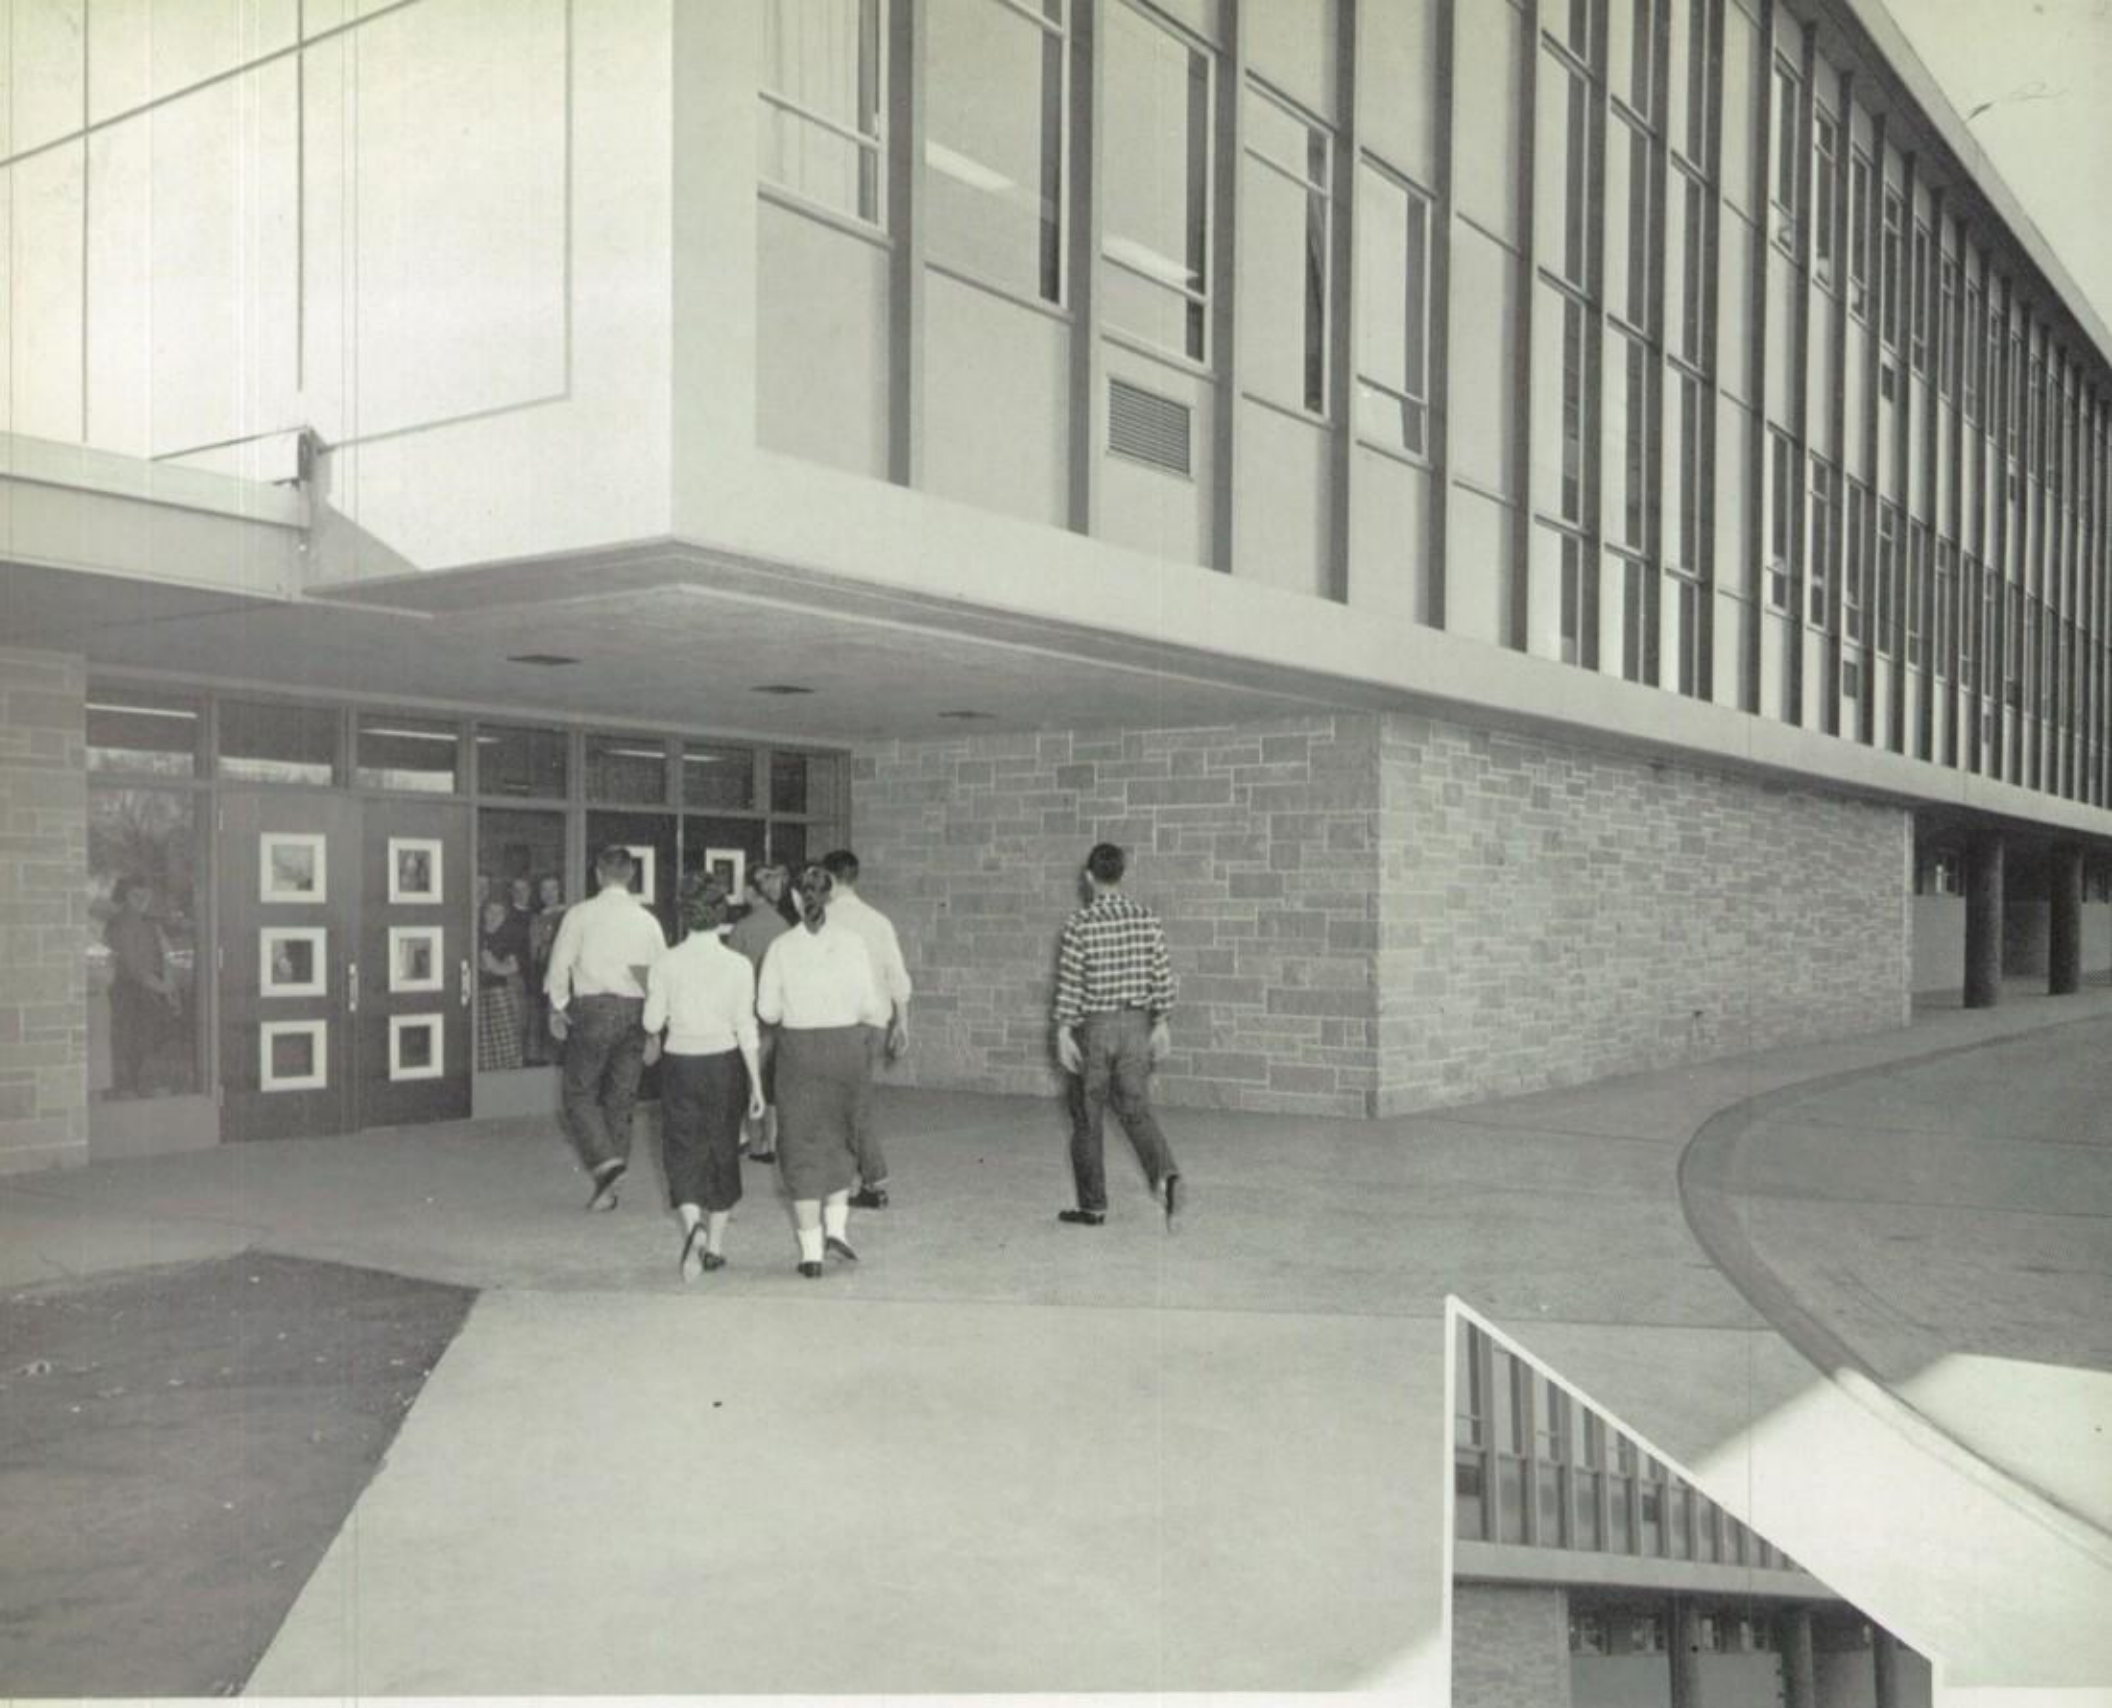
PRESENTED BY THE SENIOR CLASS
MOLINE SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL
MOLINE, ILLINOIS
VOLUME 47



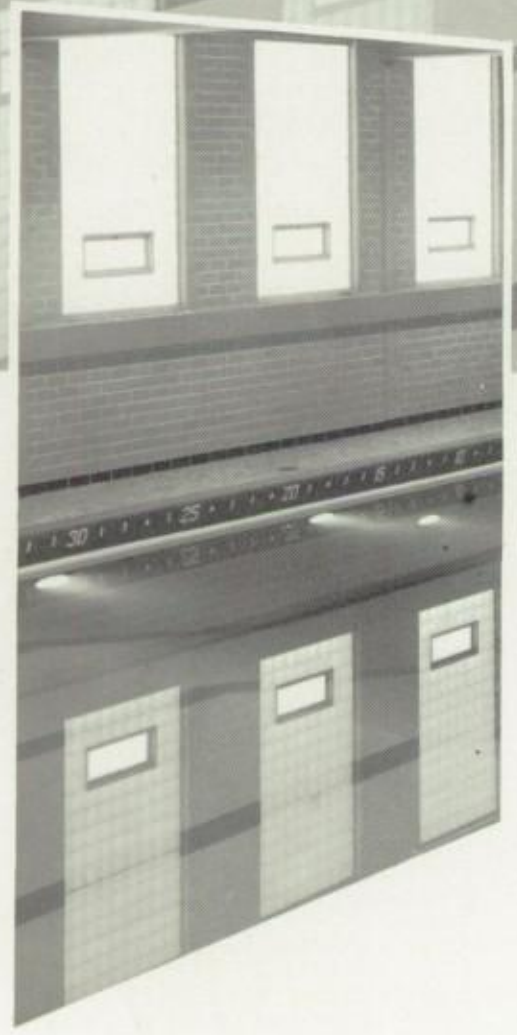
We graduates of 1959 dedicate our yearbook, the first to portray our new school, to the townspeople of Moline who created for us our beautiful building. It is indeed an inspiration and a Pattern for our Progress.

1959



"Better build school rooms for 'the boy'
Than cells and gibbets for 'the man.' " . . . Cook

As the panes of glass and blocks of stone create intricate Patterns to catch the eye of the passer-by, a thousand times more lasting are the designs and shapes which our school molds into the lives of those who enter and remain within for several years. Through education we grope for Progress.



"Our life is like some vast pool that is slowly filling with the stream of our years." . . . Bisson

In a swimming pool are reflected Patterns in light and shadow, and in a swimming pool is enacted the drama of life. The course is charted, the goal is in sight, but every man must run his own race. With perseverance, self-discipline and sound bodies we can struggle toward Progress.

In effective contrast to the bold Patterns of steel and stone are the delicate details of lace-like beauty. The silvery bars in the transparent walls are like endless staffs of music from which the creative, sensitive, artistic child develops his aesthetic qualities. The world is waiting for his contributions to Progress.

"For there is music wherever there is harmony, order, or proportion."
. . . Browne

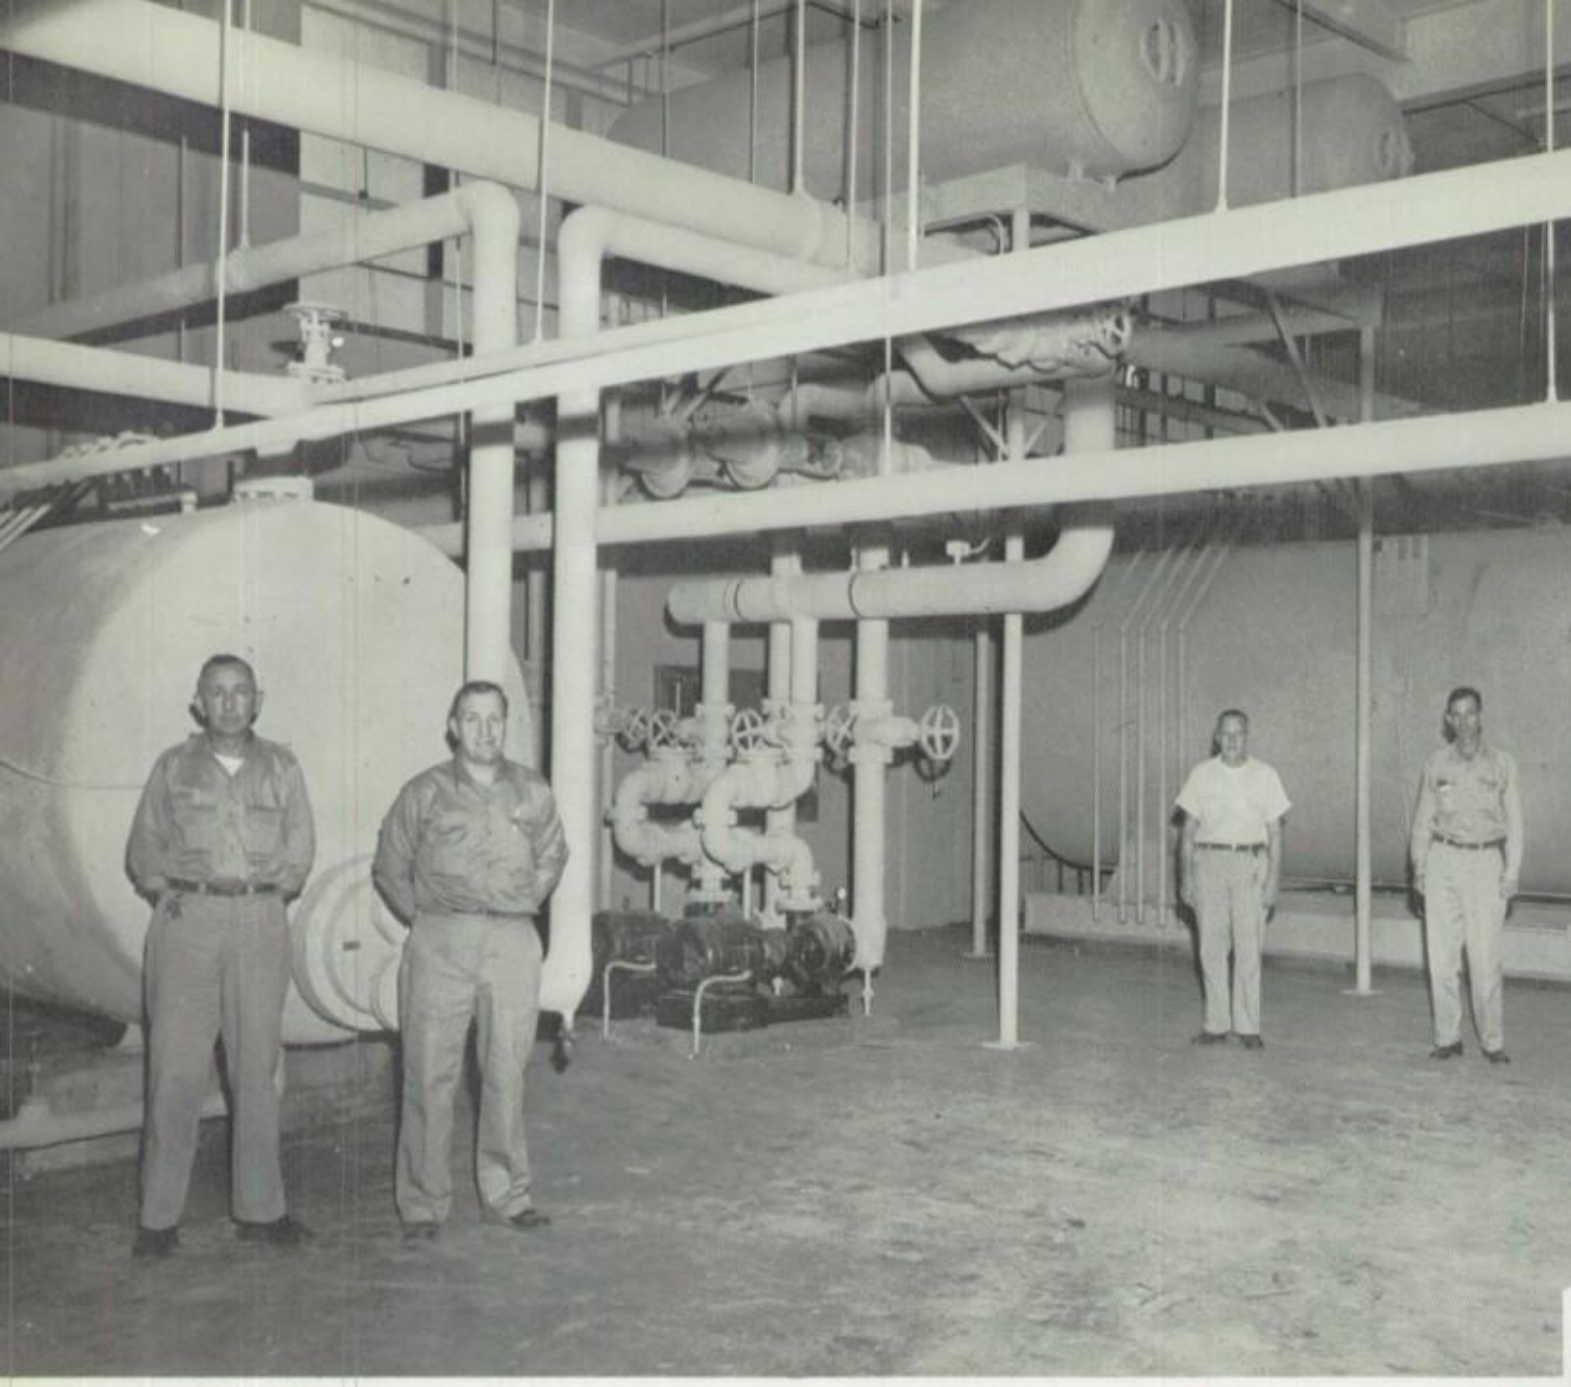
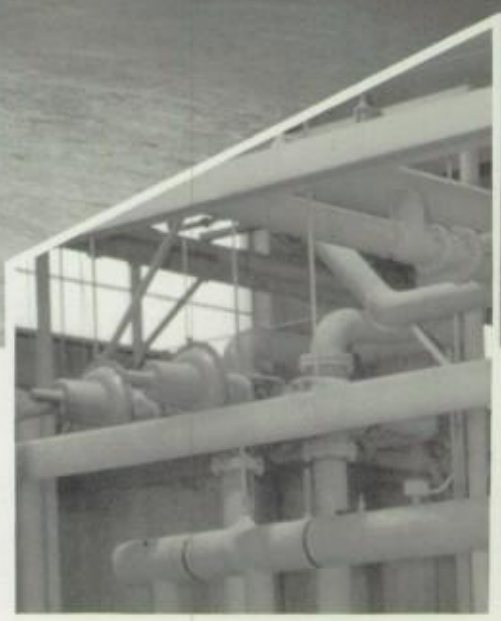
"Turn, turn, my wheel! 'Tis nature's plan
The child should grow into the man." . . . Longfellow

There are pleasing Patterns in a shop scene with the wheels and pistons moving in rhythmic motion. The educator sees in such a room, young hands and heads and hearts to be trained and taught and toughened for their part in the world's Progress.





"The keen unpassioned beauty of a great machine." . . . Brooke

The elaborate network of pipes, valves and motors is seldom seen by our students; yet the maze of machinery forms unique Patterns. To many of us at MHS the "machinery" is remote. Yet we really know that many citizens labored diligently for countless hours to bring into existence our vast school plant. These civic minded citizens too, preferred to stay in the background, and we are inclined to forget the magnitude of their ground work. They worked to pass the referendum; they served on the advisory committee; they voted big sums of money that the young people of our district might have the best equipment. They and their activities are woven into Patterns too intricate to identify. They have already labored for Progress. We must carry on.

Food and friends make meal time a favorite interlude in the school day. Here the personalities of students, too numerous to count, and representing an ever widening variety of interests, blend into a random Pattern of life as complex and mysterious and enduring as the story told by a Persian rug. We are proud of the Progress that our school has made in providing an education for every child who comes, regardless of position, handicap, or faith.

Democracy in the dining room is a reality. The Pattern is easy to follow.

"Eat and drink as friends." . . . Shakespeare

For the present our attention is on the inside world of discovery amidst friends and helpers, but we have only to turn our eyes to see the outside world awaiting us. Often the outer realm is dark and baffling.

It is probable that our future will not be as clear cut as the Patterns designed by the builders of the school. What a wonderful world we could share if we could feel and accept the Patterns for Progress laid out by the True Architect!

To a Waterfowl

"He who, from zone to zone,
Guides through the boundless sky thy certain flight,
In the long way that I must tread alone,
Will lead my steps aright." . . . Bryant

"Study to show thyself approved unto God." . . . II Timothy 2:15

How gratifying that MHS students realized from the opening day of our new home that a school is not a vast expanse of beauty, alone. We have thrilled to every artistic combination of design, color, and materials. However, the students in the handsome library are not deceived in their search for Progress by the pleasing Patterns in the floor or walls. Each knows that education is a personal achievement. The road to success has not grown smoother or shorter. The distance is just as great as from our old address.

"But evermore came out by the same door where in I went." . . . Omar Khayyam

We are the first to emerge from the corridors of "the new school." We have carelessly left a few unnecessary scratches and fingermarks behind. This we regret. But we are genuinely proud to carry out our enriched minds, developed personalities, heightened ambitions and courageous faith in the future. Maybe . . . we . . . have . . . left behind . . . a faint suggestion of a Pattern to follow in quest of Progress.

Administration

Dr. Dwight Davis, superintendent of the Moline educational system, extends his warm smile to a visitor as he is caught in this candid photograph.

Dr. Dwight M. Davis is serving his fourth year as superintendent of the Moline educational system. Working in his friendly, yet businesslike manner, Dr. Davis executes the policies decided upon by the Board of Education, in addition to working with all school personnel, preparing a practical school budget, and recommending to the Board for their consideration plans to improve the educational program.

Determining the policies of things to come, policies which, if adopted, set a pattern of educational progress, the Moline Board of Education meets at least once every month at Allendale, the educational administration building. Elected by the citizens of Moline, Board members diligently apply themselves to their task of setting and supervising the policies for our schools. They make periodic visits to schools, because of their interest in the welfare of the school system, and suggest needed improvements.

The Board of Supervisors and Directors of Special Activities works closely with the Board of Education in maintaining contact with all administrators and teachers in Moline.

Administration

The Moline Board of Education takes time in its weighty schedule to sit for this picture. Members are, SEATED: Melvin L. Reynolds, Secretary-Treasurer; Dr. R. E. Ruggles, President; Dr. Dwight Davis, Superintendent of Schools. STANDING ARE: Stoddard J. Small, Merritt Faust, R. V. Shrader, Henry W. Parsons, Roger Potter, and Calvin Ainsworth.

Members of the Supervisory Staff assemble at Allendale for this photograph. SEATED ARE: Lela Adams, homemaking; Roberta Lynch, audio-visual education; Marie Ringquist, art education. STANDING: Marlin Baxter, elementary education and guidance; Ray Brasmer, industrial education; Ray Smith, physical education, health, and safety; James S. Drake, athletic director.

"Come in, and welcome to our new school," greets Mr. Lamont Hultgren, principal of Moline High School.

Lays Foundation for Progress

Mr. Lamont Hultgren is serving his third year as principal of Moline Senior High School. Mr. Hultgren amiably handles his many responsibilities, supervising the physical operation of everything within our new building, which includes teachers, counselors, the student body, cafeteria, custodians, and every department. Managing all athletic events and dramatic productions throughout the year is also a big job for this cheerful man.

In this first year in our new school building, Mr. Hultgren's responsibilities have multiplied daily. Operation of the complex IBM system which controls all heating, lighting, bells, and other systems in the school is his job. New facilities and space require suitable policies which offer the best, and safest, use by students. In making and carrying out these new policies, Mr. Hultgren works closely with his "right-hand man," Mr. Norman A. Ziebell, assistant principal. Caring for the welfare of the students is Mr. Ziebell's job, as is making out student schedules, and working with the counselors.

Two counselors, a man and a woman, direct each class at MHS. In addition to counseling, they assist students with their programs, check on absences, and help in planning class social functions. The senior counselors aid the class members in picking colleges and notify them of available scholarships.

Second man on the administration totem-pole is Mr. Norman A. Ziebell, assistant principal.

The MHS English curriculum has several objectives: to teach young people to express themselves clearly in spoken and written language and to read with understanding and comprehension.

All sophomores are required to study a general English course, which includes composition and grammar, and the reading of favorite classics and the best books.

An honors course provides more reading and writing than the standard course. To enroll, a student must have the recommendation of his previous English teacher, a straight A record in English, and high marks in other subjects.

In the junior year students have a chance to develop particular interests in English by choosing one of the four available courses: American Literature, English Honors, English Journalism, and Communications. Oral English is required of all juniors, one period weekly being devoted to giving individual speeches, panel discussions, and reports.

Although senior English is elective, college-bound students usually enroll in English Literature, or Composition, a one-semester study of grammar and theme writing.

The library, constantly used by students, provides books for book reports and reference material for investigative papers.

Mr. Roush demonstrates a dramatic stabbing to his speech students, Mary Tyler, Bob Laxy, and Art Stamey. The victim, Dale Mott, seems unmoved by the proceedings.

Developing a sense of awareness of his own sensitivity to beauty and good taste and confidence in expressing himself creatively is the object of the art courses. Advanced classes study drawing, painting, three-dimension construction, and printing; also illustration, advertising techniques, and sculpture. Crafts classes do creative work with leather, metal, wood, glass, plastics, and jewelry. Pottery classes handle clay, creating original ceramic pieces.

More than three hundred students report daily for work in the vocal and instrumental music groups. Beginners' choruses learn breath control, correct diction, clear enunciation, and proper tone quality. Members of the girls' choir and operetta workshop, quartets, sextets, trios, and soloists are chosen by tryouts. The band and orchestra learn to play their instruments harmoniously, to develop smooth phrasing, and to master basic techniques.

Typing, shorthand, office practice, bookkeeping, and distributive education comprise the courses in business education. These courses are taken successively through high school. Distributive education prepares the student for careers in retailing or selling. Twenty-four seniors enrolled for this year's DE course.

Social Studies courses include world history, United States history, government, economics, business law, and commercial geography.

Sophomores are required to take world history, a study of the major cultures of the world with special stress upon the relationships of the past with the present. Juniors take United States history, a study of the U.N. and other world organizations as well as the complete history of the U.S. and the Latin American countries. Seniors must take a one-semester government course.

Economics, geography, and law are one-semester elective courses. Geography includes the religion, climate, population, resources and government of all major countries; law considers banking, international trade, insurance, and stock market operations.

The expanded physical education facilities make it possible for every MHS student to take gym each day. The courses are excitingly different, for the three new gyms, pool, and outdoor area make possible a variety of activities, such as football, baseball, speedball, and track. Indoor activities include swimming, girls' rhythms classes, Basketball, volleyball, deck tennis, aerial darts, and boys' wrestling. In addition, seniors are required to take six weeks of first aid.

Vocational Training

Three elective science courses, biology, chemistry, and physics attract a great many students. In biology the student learns the fundamentals of plant and animal life, the use of the microscope and dissecting tools, and the recognition of local flora and fauna. In chemistry he learns the basic facts about composition of matter and its changes. In physics he learns modern scientific developments and the fundamentals of mechanics, heat, sound, light, magnetism, and electricity.

Four elective mathematics courses are offered to MHS students. Plane geometry is open to sophomores, juniors and seniors. Advanced algebra stresses the equation as a means of solving problems. Solid geometry and trigonometry, offered to seniors primarily, concern the measurement of three dimensional figures.

Four years of Latin and two of French and Spanish help students to become acquainted with the language and customs of the country and to understand English words and sentence structure. Latin stresses vocabulary, translation, and study of the famous classics. Translation, grammar, and conversation are emphasized in French and Spanish.

Home Economics is based on the principle that the family is one of the major institutions with which education in a democratic society should be concerned. Foods and nutrition, clothing selection and construction, good grooming and enjoyment of leisure time are phases taught in food and clothing, open to all girls. Foods classes plan and prepare nutritious and well-balanced meals and learn the techniques of cooking. Clothing classes study color, design, and textiles. Family living teaches the meaning of marriage and child care. This course also considers home decoration, in which girls choose a house plan, furnishings, and a decorating scheme.

Industrial arts acquaints boys with basic ideas and skills of welding, auto mechanics, metal and woodworking, and drafting. Drafting includes mechanical and architectural drawing, tool and structural designing. Woodworking and cabinet making teaches the use of hand tools and the basic power tool operations. Machine shops help boys to set up and operate basic toolroom machines and the vocational aspect is stressed.

Service Groups Keep

To learn to use a car safely and lawfully, pupils at MHS enroll in the driver training and safety classes. In the safety classes, students learn the fundamentals of driving and recognize the parts of an automobile. Actual driving experience is provided in one of the four dual-control cars supplied each year by local automobile dealers.

Mrs. Iva Owen is the co-ordinator of the educible mentally handicapped program carried on at MHS. She assists the students in many ways, such as helping decide what subjects they should take, and guiding their interests.

Administering first aid, aiding in dental inspection, keeping health records of the students, and promoting a healthful school environment is the job of school nurse, Mrs. Geneva Henss.

Handling all money transactions, operating the switchboard, answering telephones, keeping school records, managing a bookstore for the students and faculty, and checking attendance are a few of the many duties of the hard-working office staff.

Maintaining a neat, spotless school is the custodians' job. The cafeteria workers arrive early each morning to prepare wholesome, nutritious food for MHS lunches.

Miss Ruth Spencer, pictured in the new solarium, gives special care to the biology department's unusual plants.

MHS Operating

Helping Mrs. Lucille Kendall handle receipts of school finances are Mrs. Olive Haydon, secretary, Mrs. Ethel Burt, bookkeeper, and Mrs. Madelene Denen, registrar.

Maintaining Moline High School is a job ably handled by the custodians; Achiel VanDaele, Eddie Wykert, Chester Stromberg, Fred Higdon, Robert P. Moran, Mrs. E. Wykert, head custodian Woody Cook, and Charles Hall.

Classes

"Halt!" indicates Pat McFarland, secretary-treasurer, as fellow officers, Bill Haywood, president, Jo Velon, literary board, and Randy Munn, vice-president, warn Larry Guerrero, literary board, not to tred on the "M."

Class of '59 First Grads of New School

First in, first out! This fall the Class of 1959 became the first senior class to attend the new high school. As a small cog in the wheel of progress in education in Moline, they felt justifiably proud to have helped establish new traditions and utilize for the first time the new facilities.

Busier than ever, the seniors soon found time slipping quickly by as their many activities, coupled with the ever-present homework, seemed to eat away the days.

Homecoming found them cheering for the "Maroons" and acclaiming their royalty. A sparkling comedy, "You Can't Take It With You," provided many laughs as the senior class initiated the new auditorium.

Scarcely settled in the new building, they found themselves out of school for an unusual "holiday" — a bomb scare. Hardly anything to take lightly, the students found that a threat to the new school was enough to give even the hardiest of people an eerie feeling.

Even early confusion seemed unable to quell the desire to study as the seniors kept in mind their approaching college and business careers. This was evidenced by the large membership in the National Honor Society — 69 maintaining a 3.5 average or better.

Scholastic ability was not the only brightspot in the senior class as many athletes were also outstanding. Humor and wit found their place as the students spent many hilarious hours preparing for the annual ADC Fellowship production.

Throughout the year, seniors spearheaded many such worthy campaigns as Red Cross, Muscular Dystrophy, Share Joys Buy Toys, and Red Feather by devoting much time and effort to these worthwhile projects. Holy Week services were a great success as students gave inspirational talks which were of interest to students and faculty alike.

As the days flew by, the seniors apprehensively awaited the hard-earned diplomas and busily completed their last year in a whirlwind of activity. The gala setting of the Senior Ball gave way to the solemn and sad procession at graduation as they finally reached the culmination of over twelve years of studying.

All of these things will be remembered by the Class of 1959 — the first graduates of the new high school.

Checking the record of votes for class rings turned in by the juniors and chuckling over the overwhelming number received by the winning ring are Sharon Blackburn, literary board representative; Steve Brooks, vice-president; Dick Schluter, president; Bev White, secretary-treasurer; and Chuck Berglund, literary board representative.

White, Brooks, Schluter Elected to Guide

Members of the junior class have enjoyed a year filled with responsibility, new experiences, and social functions with the joy of the new building coloring all activities.

Class officers for the year consisted of Dick Schluter, president; Steve Brooks, vice-president; and Bev White, secretary-treasurer. Sharon Blackburn and Chuck Berglund represented the class on the Literary Board. Miss Helen Anderson and Mr. Jay Schaff served as counselors. Their helpful assistance to each junior in choosing his program of courses, and their wise suggestions throughout the year, were of great value to the class.

In the fall all juniors spent a day participating in a state wide testing program which is available to all Illinois high school students in their junior year. Results of the tests were available to the pupils and their parents to help the students plan wisely for the future.

High ranking English students were privileged to enroll in one of two special classes: journalism or English honors class. Ten students were chosen during the year to serve as understudies to the yearbook staff. English grades and willingness to work hard were the basis for the selection.

Choosing and buying class rings was an exciting project of the juniors. The faculty sponsors, Mr. Judith Brooks, Mr. Stanley Fuller, Miss Frances Johnson, and Mr. Ed Mitchell assisted the president in limiting the available styles to three. A vote by the entire class chose the favorite design.

"Sabrina Fair," junior class play, was an enjoyable occasion for audience and cast alike. Mrs. Kay Moore directed the production which was one of the first to be staged in the new auditorium.

Committees began their work in early spring for the Junior-Senior Prom. Planning decorations, selecting a band, and financing all phases of the party required the combined efforts of a large number of workers. Characteristic of their other efforts and successes, the party was one which will long be remembered by guests and hosts alike. Surely attending the prom next year as guests of another junior class can not be more fun, even though it will be less work.

"It says here that to have a successful party . . .," announces Miss Johnson to the other class sponsors Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Fuller, and Mrs. Brooks. These teachers have the responsibility of helping the juniors plan their spring formal, to which they invite the senior class as their guests.

Seemingly bewildered by the "mounds" of homework assigned to them in senior high school are these sophomores: Kris Anderson, who has given up on textbooks and is undertaking the dictionary, Ron Anderson, Jan Adams and Jerry Duke, who is taking a wishful glance out the window.

600 Sophomore Students Bolster New High

Being a sophomore during the 1958-59 school year was more of an event than any sophomore class has experienced at MHS for many years. It was to this group of 600 eager students that the distinction fell, of being the first class to have the privilege of attending the new school for three years of high school work.

If the sophomores were bewildered in the early fall no one noticed, for all students in school were faced with the same task of getting acclimated to the new surroundings. In a remarkably short time the youngest class was assimilated into the student body, being spared the embarrassment of ever being conspicuously shy or confused.

Within the first few weeks sophomores began to take a keen interest in school affairs. Girls took an active interest and responsibility in Y-Teens, GAA, and Fine Arts Club, and boys participated in such groups as Key Club and Hi-Y. Many sophomores shared in the work and fun of musical groups, dramatic activities and sports events.

Miss Frieda Schnowski and Mr. Ralph McMinn, counselors, aided the sophomores in numerous administrative matters, with Mrs. Vivian Jones, Mr. Lavern Sinclair, and Mr. Chuck Laws assisting with social activities.

Pausing for a quick thirst-quencher after a long, involved scavenger hunt at the GAA welcoming picnic for sophomore members at Prospect Park are Dawn Schultze, Sandy Leech, Sue Dickinson, Jeanette Steelandt and Noreen Johnson.

Giving the photographer a cheery smile after reading their morning mail in the office are Mr. Sinclair and Mrs. Jones, sophomore sponsors, and Miss Schnowski and Mr. McMinn, sophomore counselors.

"See how nice it looks on my chain," says Betsy Staack about her National Honor Society pin as the other executive board members, Kent Peterson, Connie Lundeen, and Dave Wilson, watch admiringly.

Under the leadership of Miss Barbara Garst and Mr. Harold Griffith, the National Honor Society this year gave recognition to the scholastic leaders of the Class of '59. Becoming a member of this group is the highest distinction awarded to high school students across the country.

"As with high scholastic achievement you will be in line for additional opportunities, you will also have additional responsibilities placed upon your shoulders, and to be true to your best self, you must be ready to meet these responsibilities." With these words, Miss Ruth Spencer summed up the challenge facing the 69 new members of the National Honor Society as MHS initiated the largest group of honor students in recent years.

Each member maintained a 3.5 average throughout high school and was also outstanding in character, leadership, and service. Gold tassels adorned the caps of the members at graduation, and this year, permanent seals were fixed to their diplomas.

Contacting over forty different colleges and arranging conference schedules for College Day, ordering society pins, planning the formal initiation, and arranging the annual banquet were some of the duties of the executive board.

As Thomas Macaulay once wrote, "Knowledge advances by steps, and not by leaps." Likewise, these students have advanced a step toward success through the acquisition of knowledge.

14% of Class Represented in Honor Society

Their faces expressing joy after being initiated into the Quill and Scroll Society are, SEATED: Mary Bergerson, Ken Exline, Bill Haywood, Sandy Hogg, Liz Livingston, Connie Lundeen, Jeff McFadyen, John Morgan. STANDING: Bobbe Patterson, Kent Peterson, Karen Radcliffe, Nancy Ross, Betsy Staack, Sandy Swanson, Paul VanAcker, Linda VanBenthusen, Jo Velon, and Carol Youngdahl.

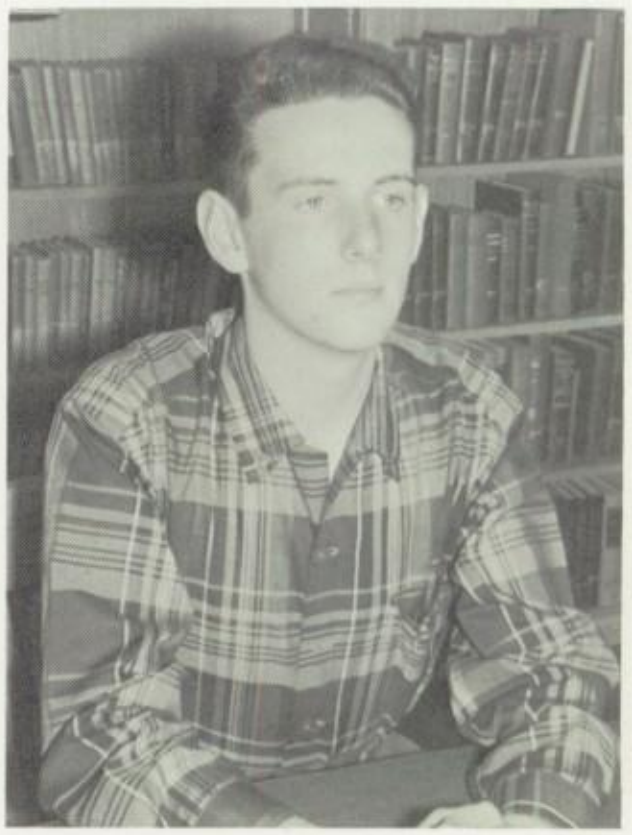
An MHS tradition which is eagerly awaited each year is the presentation of numerous awards at the spring Literary Banquet.

Students who have attained outstanding success in the field of journalism are granted membership in the national Quill and Scroll Society. Each year approximately 20 seniors and an occasional junior receive this recognition.

With the co-operation of Harvard University, one MHS junior boy is selected to receive a book designated as the Harvard Book Award as a result of excellent work in his English courses.

Another coveted honor, the Julia E. Gettemy Award, is bestowed upon a senior who has displayed unusual talent in creative writing.

Several annual awards are given to contributors to the Imp. The Ella M. Cockrell prose and poetry awards are given for the best work in each of the two fields, and the winner of the cover design contest is honored. Honorable mention winners are named, also.



Grant McKernie gazes thoughtfully into the future as he wonders what winning the Harvard Book Award will bring him later in life.

Taking a last look at the Imp cover before it goes to the printer are these first place Imp Award winners, Adena Peterson, Carol Youngdahl, winners of the Ella M. Cockrell poetry and prose awards, respectively, and Karen Hyink, Imp cover award winner. Ron Faust and Bonnie Seesland received honorable mention in the poetry field while Adena Peterson and Jacque Olson received honorable mention for prose. Receiving honorable mention for her Imp cover was Laurene Buckley.

Reorganization of MHS Student Congress

One of the main projects of the Student Congress this year was the writing of a new constitution. Secretary Jo Velon takes notes as Robbie Helfrich, president, reads the new constitution to Kent Peterson, vice-president, and Julie Donaldson, treasurer.

Student Congress officers received help in their many duties from the executive members, Jill King, Sandy Hogg, Dave Wilson, Karen Hyink, and from their advisor, Mrs. Iva Owen. Here, Dave Wilson is being used as a display for the football buttons sold by Student Congress.

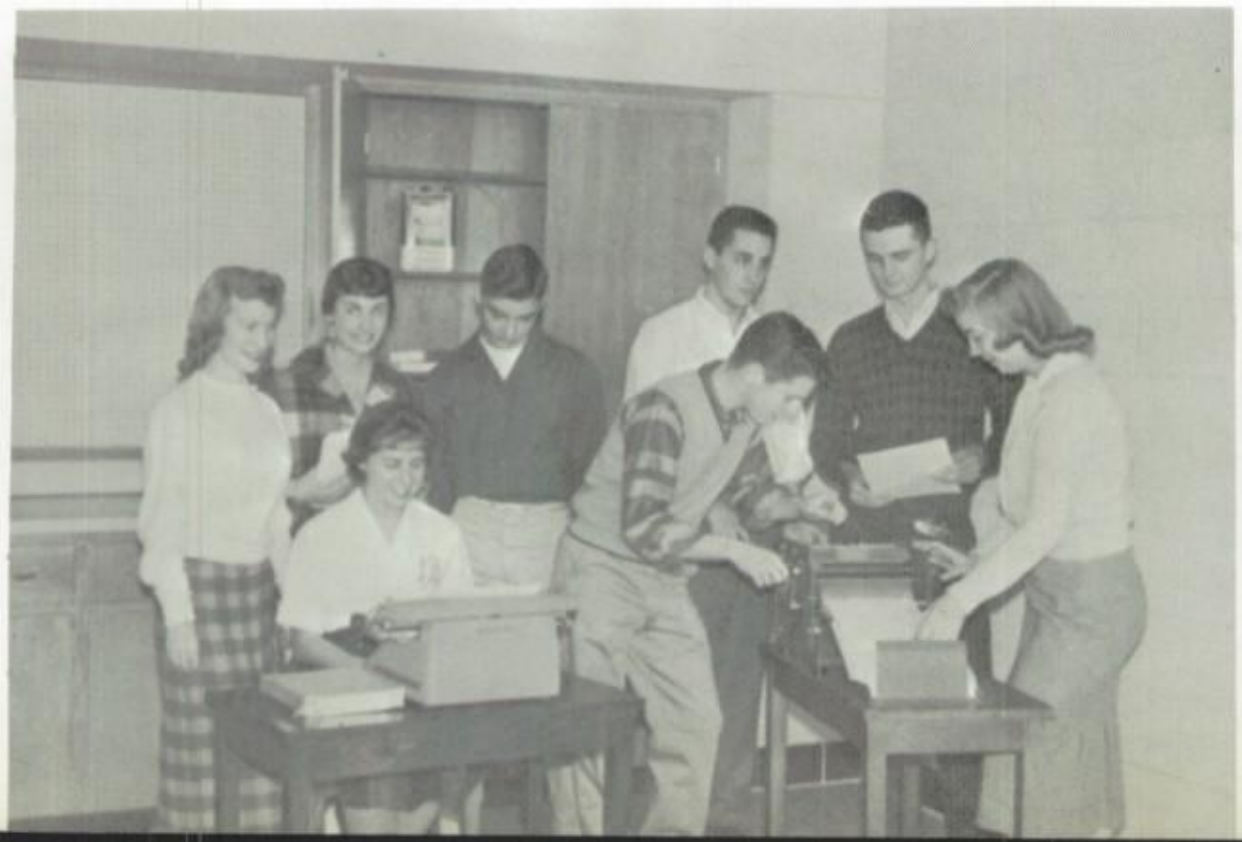
With a desire for greater efficiency, the Student Congress, with the aid of Mrs. Iva Owen, inaugurated a new system for obtaining a lesser number of representatives. Members of the Congress, except the officers, were voted upon by all members of each candidate's class, with the number of successful candidates being half as great as the number of ad-rooms.

Duties of the Congress center around a threefold purpose; furthering student participation in school activities, carrying out plans which provide for a better relationship between students and faculty, and developing more desirable relationships with other schools.

During homecoming season members conducted a successful sale of football buttons and worked enthusiastically on a gigantic float, producing "Stop 'Em." A second place award in the parade and a record for MHS float size resulted from their efforts. At Yuletide, the Congress united with the LO'T staff in promoting the "Share Joys, Buy Toys" campaign, and they also sponsored the classroom door decorating contest. The handsome Christmas tree by the M in the main corridor added to the festive appearance of the school.

Publication of a student handbook containing school rules and regulations, and the compiling of a student and faculty directory were beneficial services which the group sponsored.

Three pep assemblies, an after-game dance, and the sale of game-schedule pencils were some of the basketball season activities.



Minutes of all Student Congress meetings were typed, mimeographed, and distributed to every ad-room. The senior representatives preparing the minutes, are, SEATED: Pat McFarland. STANDING: Betty Spore, Diane Kline, Bill Burgess, Mike Goran, Jerry Brotman, John Morgan, Sandy Swanson. Absent was Larry Spiegel.

Increases Efficiency, Group Usefulness

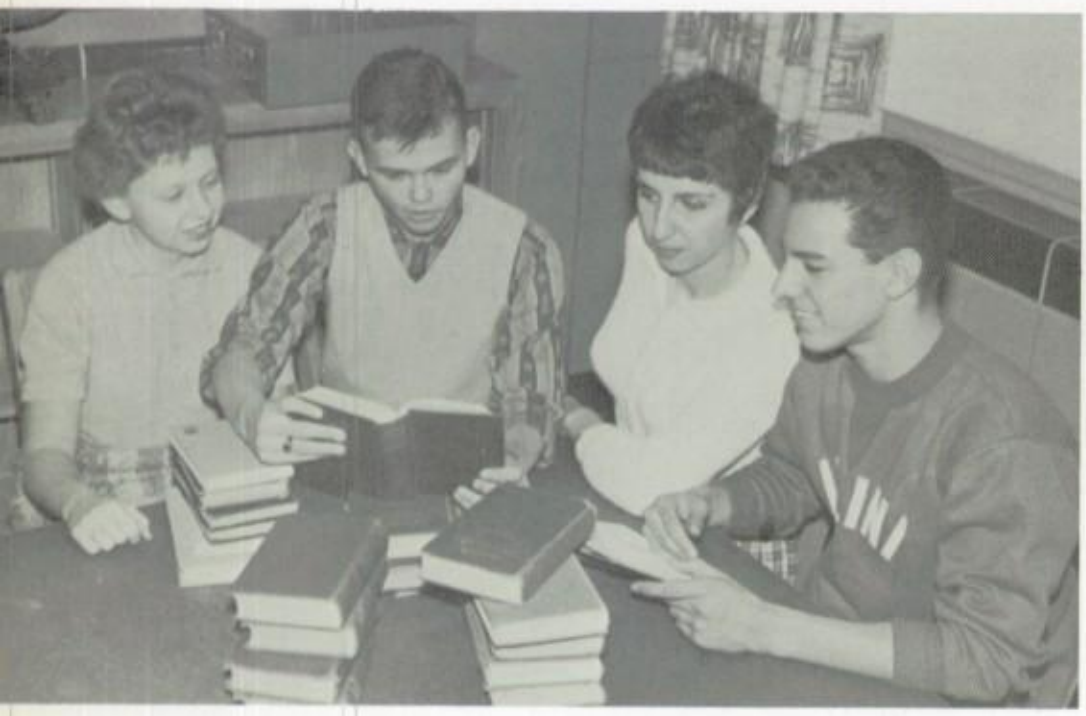
Optimistically beginning the task of flocking the Christmas tree for the school are these members of the decorating committee, Ken P. Carlson, Betty Spore, Pat McFarland, Sandy Swanson, Jo Velon.

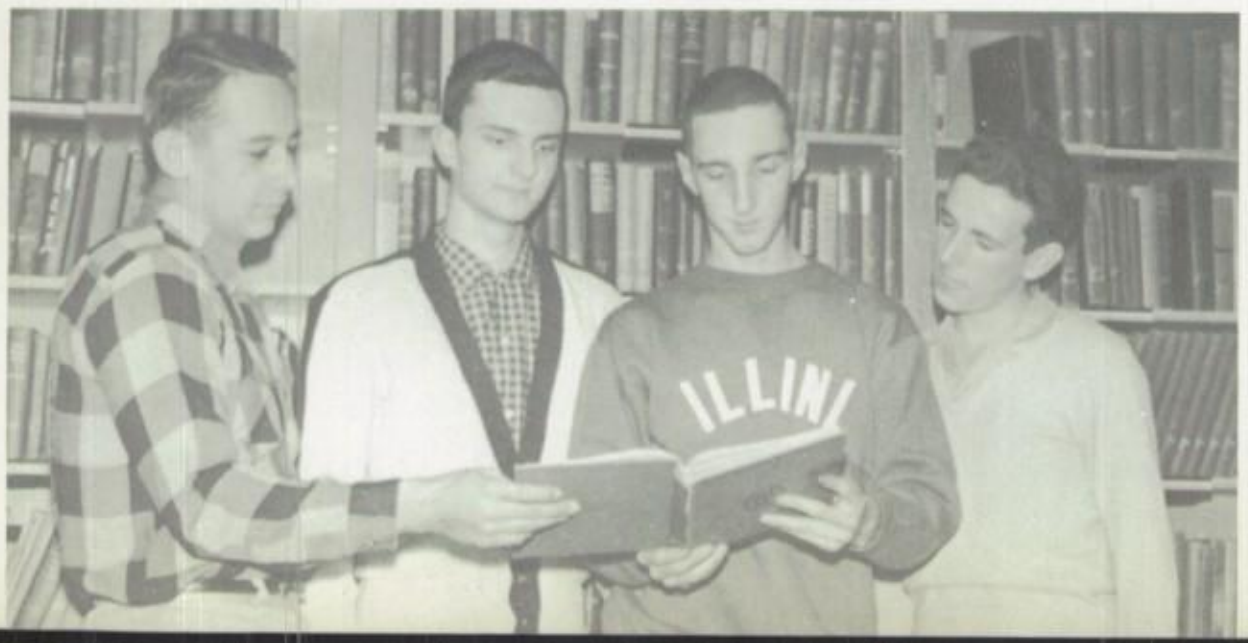
"Massacre the Pioneers!" yelled the cheerleaders and student body at the first Student Congress pep assembly. This assembly, which was held before the Moline-Alleman football game, was a great success and was the forerunner of several such assemblies.

Student Board Governs Literary Activities

Putting their heads together to plan the Literary Banquet are the Literary Board officers Sandy Hogg, secretary-treasurer; Virginia Jones, president; and Liz Livingston, vice-president.



Listening attentively as junior representative Chuck Berglund reads a selection are Sharon Blackburn, junior, and Jo Velon and Larry Guerrero, senior representatives.



"Boning up on their literature" in the library are board members Kent Peterson, John Morgan, Bill Haywood, and Grant McKernie.

Striking a cheerful pose during a board meeting are the thre Literary Board advisors, Mr. Adam, Miss Garst and Mrs. Young dahl, and board member Paul VanAcker.

Directing literary minded students of Moline High School along the road to fame stands as the main objective of the Literary Board.

Included in the membership of the board are two elected representatives from each class along with current editors and managers of the LO'T, Imp, and M staffs. Three officers, who preside through the year, are selected at large by the board.

With Miss Garst assisting, the group plans the annual Literary Banquet held in the spring. At that time, students who have proved outstanding in various phases of literature at Moline High are honored. The Harvard Book Award and the Julia E. Gettemy prose and poetry awards are also presented to a junior student and senior students, respectively for outstanding work in the English field.

E. Gettemy prose and poetry awards are also presented to a junior student and senior students, respectively for outstanding work in the English field.

Standing as one of the most responsible jobs of the board is the task of selecting editors and staff members of the three school publications for the following year.

In promoting the cultural background of MHS students, the Literary Board continues to hold a prominent place in extracurricular life at Moline High School.

EDITOR KENT PETERSON

Adding to the cultural building of Moline High School students' minds is the Imp literary magazine published annually in the spring.

Edited by Kent Peterson and his staff and advised by Miss Barbara Garst, the Imp is in its seventeenth year of publication. It was founded through the efforts of Ella M. Cockrell, a former Moline English instructor, in 1942. The Imp is unique in that it is one of the few high school booklets published which is comprised wholly of student submitted creative writings.

Seeking originality and good writing style, a faculty-student committee selects the most outstanding contributions in the fields of prose, poetry and art. From the various fields single entries are chosen to receive special prizes.

Climaxing the literary year is the annual Literary Banquet held in the spring. At this time prize winners are announced. The Ella M. Cockrell awards are presented for the best prose and poetry selection and the Imp cover award is given out. Honored also at the banquet are those persons receiving honorable mention for their Imp selections.

Imp Strives to Create Cultural Interests

Seated are Linda Williams, assistant subscription manager; Mary Bergerson, advertising manager; Jeff McFadyen, photographer, and standing are Marty Shaffer, artist; Linda Van Benthusen, art editor; Jo Velon, subscription manager; John Ericson, exchange editor; Grant McKernie, business manager.

Poetry editor, Sandy Hogg, discusses final judging rules with faculty advisors Miss Garst and Miss Roseberg. Student and faculty judges read all entries and choose a select few to be published in the annual magazine.

LO'T, 'Eyes and Ears' of M H S, Brings

"After all these issues you still do something like that!" Bobbe Patterson, girls' sports editor, seems to have made a mistake on her page. Enjoying her error are Carol Youngdahl, news editor; Linda VanBenthusen, club editor; Ken Exline, boys' sports editor; Nancy Ross, news editor; Karen Radcliffe, feature editor.

The phrase "the eyes and ears of MHS" could well be applied to the Line O' Type, Moline Senior High's bi-weekly newspaper. Besides being informative, entertaining and educational, the LO'T sees, hears and then reports.

All high school students receive this paper, since a year's subscription for it is included in their registration fee. All money earned from this, other subscriptions and advertising is used to finance the printing of the paper.

Mrs. Mary Youngdahl, a new advisor for the staff this year, and a capable senior staff selected by applications submitted at the end of the junior year, headed the publication this year.

As in preceding years, an English journalism class composed of promising journalistic juniors assisted the staff in uncovering and creating stories for the paper. Besides acquiring training and experience in the duties of publishing a paper, these apprentices were prepared for carrying on next year's paper.

The joy of the Yuletide season was shared with many children once again this year as a result of the "Share Joys — Buy Toys" campaign sponsored jointly by the LO'T and Student Congress. The money collected from the sale of the tags bought toys and needed clothing for the children of three Moline families.

"There must be millions here!" Displaying the great quantity of "Share Joys — Buy Toys" tags before the campaign commenced are these LO'T and Student Congress members, Bobbe Patterson, Ken Exline, Jo Velon, Carol Youngdahl, and Bill Haywood.

Glancing through the latest exchange papers received by the LO'T are these business staff members, Judy Lawless, proofreader; Jeff McFadyen and Gerry Gustafson, photographers; Paul VanAcker, business manager; Sandy Swanson, advertising manager; Faye Graham, exchange editor. Absent is Ray Hamilton, circulation manager.

News, Entertainment to Student Body

Searching diligently for their own stories that were put into the paper are these members of the apprenticeship class; Barb Rueter, Gaye Woehr, Jerilynn Minch, Solveig Tonnessen, Karen Hyink, Hunt Sharp, George Waffle, Fran Neir, Ted Richter, Bill Rogers, Grant McKernie, Jeff Verstreater, Judy Kappler, Lucia Swanson, Karen Tracy, Marianne Rosenberg, Joyce Thorngren, and Jill King. Absent is Nancy Jones.

Talking over what should go into the next issue of the LO'T are Mrs. Youngdahl, advisor, and these members of the journalism class; John Ferrell, Julie Donaldson, Lorie Carlson, Julie Eastland, Anson Holmes, Chuck Berglund, Nancy Anderson, and Sandee Huntoon.

With a handsome new building to feature and a new faculty advisor to assist the M staff, the group entered with enthusiasm into the task of creating the 1959 yearbook many weeks before their senior year officially started.

A conspicuous revival of school spirit during the year and an extensive subscription campaign resulted in the sale of more than 1250 copies of this year's M, a new record in MHS publication history.

Although the 1959 staff was primarily concerned with its editing duties, the group lent their support to other school projects. The profits from a candy sale was one of the first contributions toward the first exchange student fund. The present staff financed the purchase of a pair of risers to be used in the photographing of school groups, which was given as a gift to the publications department.

Mr. John Adam, who joined the school faculty this year, served as advisor to the group.

M Published Despite Hectic Hours, Sagging

Interrupted during a tedious job of checking and rechecking proofs are Curt Roseman, underclassmen editor; Sandy Hogg, fine arts editor; Betsy Staack, senior editor, and Jo Velon, faculty editor.

"Money, money, money," thinks Carole Carlson, subscription manager, as she and Liz Livingston, business manager, count the returns from the subscription drive while Mary Bergerson, advertising manager, and Linda Brissman, index editor, take a quick survey of the index cards for the student directory.

Taking an art lesson from Peggy Helstrom, artist, are Jeff McFadyen and Gerry Gustafson, photographers.

A high school yearbook is many things to many people. To some it is merely a convenient gadget for collecting autographs. To others it is a "memory book" with pictures and data which will be referred to many times in the years ahead.

But to the seventeen members of the 1959 M staff, this yearbook is something else. It is a product created out of our combined imaginations. Two hundred blank pages as we entered our senior year became two hundred carefully designed pages by the day we graduated.

To the staff members this annual is the sum total of hundreds of pictures, taken by appointments as often forgotten as remembered, countless hours of fact gathering and more hours of copy writing and rewriting, long evenings and week-ends of layout labors, and the constant race against deadlines.

It was a challenge, and we enjoyed every minute of it. Our hope is that you also may derive pleasant hours from the 1959 M.

Spirits, D . . . Deadlines

"These are priceless," agree Robbie Helfrich, assistant sports editor; Kathy Oehler and Connie Lundeen, co-activities editors; and Bobbe Patterson, sports editor, as they sort out the usable from the unusable pictures for their layouts.

Always ready and willing to assist the staff are the junior M understudies Nancy Anderson, Bev White, Judy Kappler, Nancy Bergsten, John Ericson, Chuck Berglund, Ann Starkey, Marianne Rosenberg, Linda Parsons and Lucia Swanson.

Coronation Begins Homecoming Festivities;

Chosen by the publication staffs, the sophomore and junior attendants to the king and queen were Ken Jones and Pam Hogren, Julie Eastland and Fran Neir.

Gayest of the score of eventful weeks in the fall semester was the traditional homecoming celebration. October 17 was the official date of the event, although plans began to evolve several weeks earlier.

Balloting for the M Queen began with the M sales campaign, since each subscription entitled the purchaser to one vote. All subscribers to the Line O' Type were eligible to vote for the LO'T King. The identity of the royal pair was a well guarded secret until the moment of coronation.

Nonie Moorhusen and Tom Seitz captured the hearts of the students and friends who were present for the impressive ceremony. The bouffant dresses and pastel shades which the ladies of the court chose for the occasion created a spectacle of breath-taking beauty.

From the handsomely decorated stage the members of royalty were rushed to their respective places in the homecoming parade. The weatherman cooperated enthusiastically to make the procession of beautiful floats and decorated cars more spectacular than ever before.

Pep and spirits were at a high pitch during the rally which followed the parade in Stephens Square.

Following the pep session all MHS scrambled into colorful sports outfits for the football game. Hundreds of snowy-white chrysanthemums on the co-eds' sweaters added to the gay atmosphere. Even losing the game by one point to Iowa City could not dull anyone's spirits, for the dance afterwards at the high school was a big success.

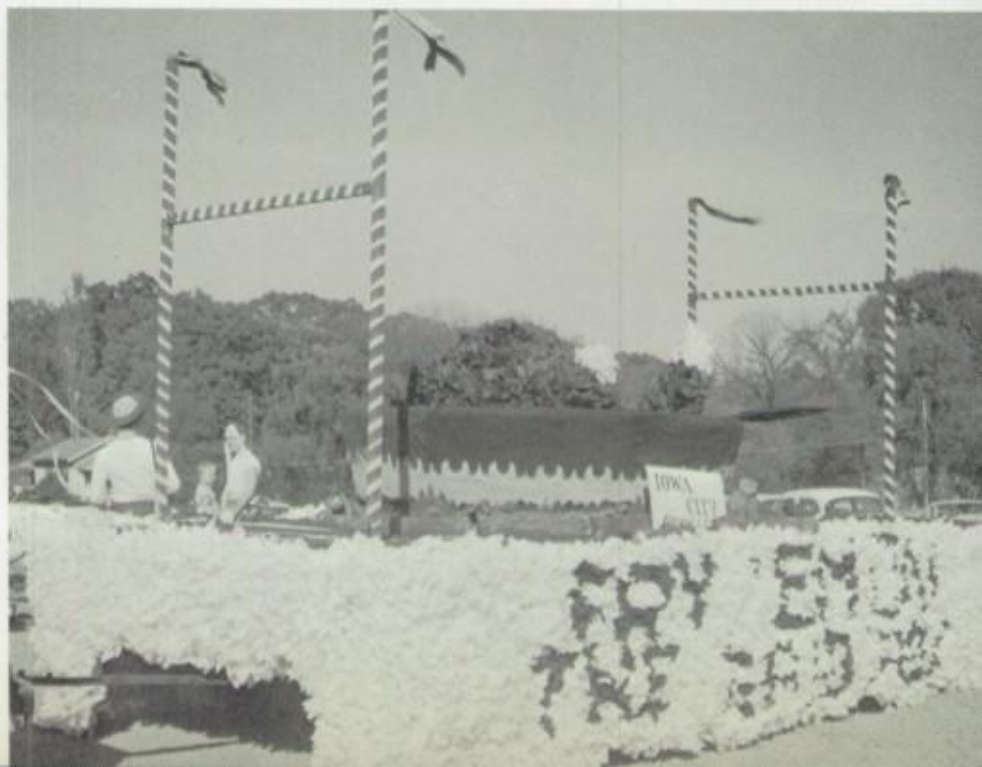
Having the distinction of being the tallest float is the second place entry of the Student Congress. All telephone wires along the parade route had to be raised to make room for the huge stop sign.

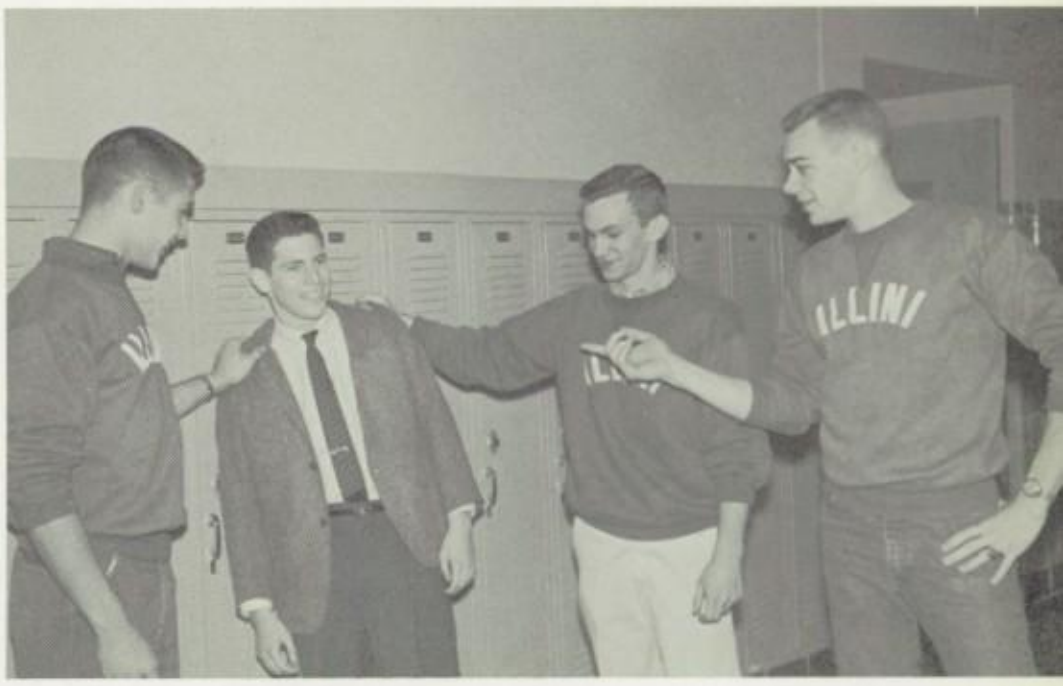
Gathered around the cheerleaders at Stephens Square after the parade, MHS students exercise their voices in preparation for the evening's game.

Putting finishing touches on the new high school are some GAA'ers as they prepare their float, which captured third place, for the parade.

"Fry 'Em on the Grid Iron" was the theme of the Lettermen's Club's fifth place entry. The Lettermen show a hawk being fried on the football field in a massive frying pan.

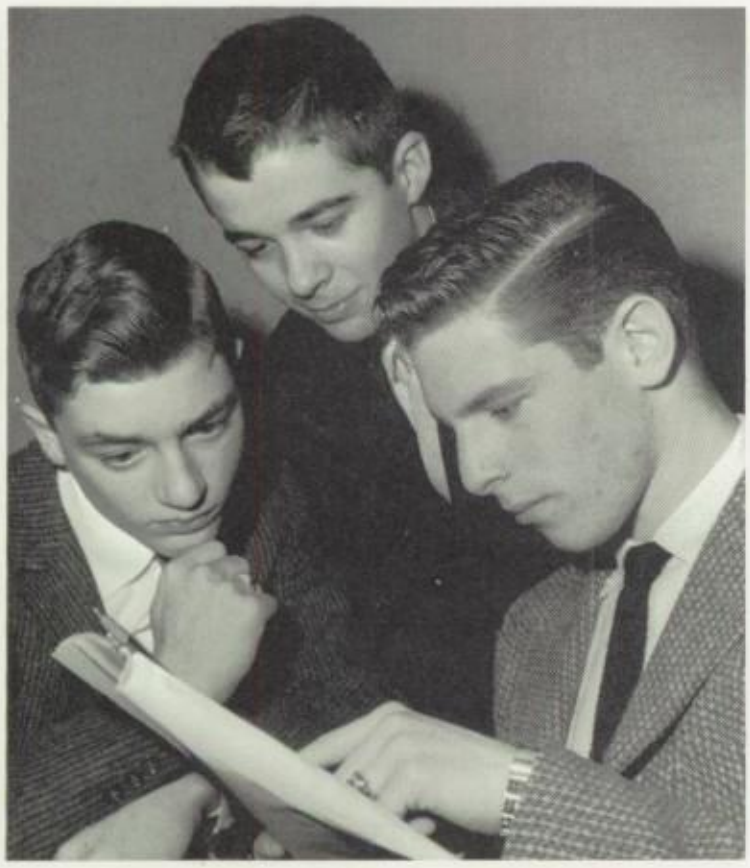


Illini Hi-Y Boasts 'Mayor for a Day'



"What's the idea, tres?" It seems that Mike Goran, secretary-treasurer, broke a club tradition by not wearing his green Illini sweatshirt on Thursday. Robbie Helfrich, president, and Randy Munn, vice-president, "rough-up" the delinquent as Ward Johnson, chaplain, shakes a scolding finger.

Bill Burgess, Dan Louden, and Mike Goran look over a list of their aldermen after being elected city treasurer, clerk, and mayor, respectively. Bill and Mike are members of Illini Hi-Y, and Dan is a member of Spartan Hi-Y.



This year, the Illini Hi-Y's theme, the promotion of fellowship, was emphasized at one of the outstanding meetings in a program given by a man from India.

To distinguish this Hi-Y group, green sweatshirts with white letters spelling ILLINI were purchased. Any senior boy had the privilege of acknowledging his membership in the organization by wearing this sweatshirt regularly.

The main features included in the Illini's activity calendar were the sponsoring of several dances and active participation in the Youth in Government Day and Holy Week Services.

The Youth in Government Day, held in the late fall with all the sophomore, junior, and senior Hi-Y's participating, was one of the prominent instructive programs in which the Illini's took part. With four of their members running for mayor and city treasurer, the senior Hi-Y was well represented. Not only were Mike Goran and Bill Burgess elected to the positions of mayor and city treasurer, respectively, but other members also held the duties of aldermen and employees of specialized city government departments. Talks given by distinguished county and city government officials, a model council meeting, and a special dinner were the noteworthy features on the day's schedule. Many of the boys felt this contact with our city government was very helpful and beneficial.

"I'm in favor of this plan," Bruce Peterson, secretary, tells the other Spartan Hi-Y officers Dan Louden, treasurer; Bob Johnson, president; and Bruce Huston, vice-president. These boys had the responsibility of arranging the monthly meetings and projects of the group.

Spartans Raise Funds for School Projects

New Spartan sweatshirts were proudly worn by the members of the junior Hi-Y club. These sweatshirts, bearing a felt, maroon horseman, were purchased for the first time this year by all the boys.

Having been organized just last year, the Spartans strove to increase not only their membership but also their list of activities. The selling of maroon and white "beanies" and the sponsoring of several after-game dances were a few fund-raising projects of the organization. Much of the money from these activities was donated toward a foreign exchange student for next year and a scoreboard for the swimming pool.

Representing their club in the city-wide Youth in Government Day were Dan Louden, who was elected city clerk, and Don Ruggles and Bruce Peterson, who held the position of aldermen. All members present for the event were assigned to a specific job in a city department, attended a council session, and aided in the adoption of several ordinances.

Having gained in both material and spiritual aspects, the Spartan Hi-Y, aided by their advisor, Mr. John Adam, had a successful and beneficial year.

Feeling very debonair in their Maroon beanies, Bill Pekos, Dick Parrish, Fran Neir, Don Ruggles, and Bud Petit pause a moment to discuss sales methods. The boys sold the beanies during the football season.

In its second year of successful organization, the Trojan Hi-Y, composed of sophomore boys, created some profitable and enjoyable times for its members. The purpose of the organization was to form a better Christian understanding and following among the boys.

The Trojans, although a branch of the entire Hi-Y organization, sponsored several projects independently. They held a popcorn sale in the fall, and together with the Viking Hi-Y sponsored an after-game dance. With their profits, the boys were able to purchase Trojan sweatshirts.

The climax of the year and ultimate goal for all their money-raising projects was a trip to Milwaukee, Wisconsin, in the spring. The Trojans toured the famous city and saw the Milwaukee Braves play at the County Stadium.

Vikings, Trojans Climax Year with Trips

The purpose of the Vikings, a sophomore Hi-Y now ending its second year of organization, was to create a Christian follow-up to the YMCA activities. Originating at John Deere Junior High School last year, the club was directed and guided in its work by Mr. Roger Fischer.

Among the many activities of the organization were some money-making projects to enlarge the treasury. The boys sold salt water taffy and joined the other Hi-Y's in sponsoring a dance. They also competed in the Hi-Y Olympic games. For the first time this year, Viking wind-breakers were made available to members of the club.

The eventful year was brought to a successful climax when the sophomore boys chartered a bus and traveled to St. Louis for a fun-packed time.

Taking a break at the Y-Teens' formal are the Inter-Club Y-Teens Council, Diane Kline, senior representative; Barb Haywood, treasurer and maintenance and clean-up chairman; Joyce Thorngren, vice-president and program chairman; Sharon Hicks, secretary; Karen Radcliffe, president and devotions chairman; Elaine Seitz, sophomore representative; Karen Hoerrmann, publicity chairman and decorations chairman; Jill King, social chairman and refreshments chairman. Absent was Donna Derby, junior representative.

With Y-Teens' increased membership it seemed wise to separate into three units, with the girls of each grade level having their own club. Closer fellowship among the members has been a gratifying result of the reorganization.

Through an Inter-Club Council, which worked closely with Miss Carolyn Anderson, advisor, the activities of the three sections has been unified. In addition to each unit's monthly meeting, the Council arranged a joint session for the separate groups. Guest speakers at the large meetings brought inspiration and information to the young audience. The Council sponsored several large social events; the Y-Teens' formal in November, the annual carnival in February, and a style show in the spring.

Helping less fortunate people was the year's project of the senior division. They held a party for crippled children, packed Christmas baskets, and each week arranged and distributed flowers for patients in the Lutheran Hospital. In addition to these projects, the senior members had a full schedule of social activities. A bike hike and a date-night pizza party were especially happy affairs.

Members of the junior group also chose service as their theme. A visit to the East Moline State Hospital and the collection of money for UNICEF indicates the variety of their interests in helping others. The juniors also carried out social events, which included a skating party, a Hollywood movie premier, and a dancing party.

Sophomore Y-Teens sought to learn more about the community, in addition to carrying out a social program to enrich their school friendships. They made trips to the East Moline State Hospital, to the Physical Therapy Department of Augustana College, and to the Oak Glen Rest Home. In between their benevolent activities, they had a swimming party, an ice cream social, and several dances.

After taking for themselves the title of "the school's right hand," the Lettermen's Club members have strived tirelessly to prove themselves worthy of the name. During the current year this hard-working group has had many opportunities to show their interest and willingness to work.

Early in the fall Lettermen had the pleasant responsibility of arranging the handsome collection of athletic trophies in the new showcases. No doubt every worker was silently vowing to do his best to help win additional recognition for the school.

In order to earn money for worthy school projects the boys edited and sold programs at the basketball games. Additional services which the group rendered ranged from assisting in the parking lots for big school functions to sponsoring the special issue of the Line O' Type at Homecoming.

With an eye to the future, the Lettermen, under the direction of Mr. Sam Drake and Mr. Ken Funk, conducted a series of "miniature" basketball games among elementary schools during the half time intermissions at the varsity contests.

Differing from most school organizations, the Lettermen are assigned to the same ad room. Through this arrangement, members had more opportunity to work together and share their common interests.

Energetic G A A'ers Expand Sports, Activities

"It matters not who won or lost but how they played the game." Working as an organization under this motto, the Girls' Athletic Association progressed through the year.

Guiding GAA were four advisors: Mrs. Jean Carlson, Miss Carol Coin, Mrs. Judith Brooks and Miss Frances Leimkuehler. Planning and carrying out projects was the task of the GAA board. This year for the first time, the sophomore class was represented on the board.

Aided by the increased facilities, tournaments were held in speedball, basketball and volleyball along with swim functions and modern dance.

As the first social get-together, a picnic welcomed new members. After working tirelessly for homecoming, members were rewarded with third place for their float. At the annual Christmas Party, new members were initiated. Mothers returned to youthful ways at the Mother-Daughter Playnight while the dads got into the act at the Dad-Daughter Date-Night in February. For the first time in recent years, Moline played host to two play days during the spring. Featured as the conclusion of the year was the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet and the farewell picnic to seniors. At the banquet, Merit Award winners were announced and new officers were installed.

Debate, Y F C Stimulate Minds, Spirits

Debating this past year on the topic: "Resolved: That the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of education," were the members of the MHS debate team.

After tryouts, Coach DeWayne Roush selected his team on the basis of scholastic averages and the ability to speak concisely and persuasively.

Opening the season with the Geneseo Invitational gave the team encouragement, for they placed high among the twenty-seven participating schools. Next on their agenda was the Northwest Conference. For the first time, Moline had the honor of serving as hosts for this annual debate, the largest of the year. Participating in the Augustana, Galesburg and University of Dubuque Invitationals and the State Speech Conference occupied their time during the remainder of the year.

Five, four, three, two, one, blast off! In this fashion the Youth For Christ president, Duane Vogel, opened the first meeting of the year on the topic "Around the World in Thirty Minutes." Presiding with him were Charlotte Sandstrom, vice-president, Jacque Olson, secretary and Gary Hallberg, treasurer.

Halloween found the members dressed as ghosts and goblins at Indian Bluff for the "Creepy Corral" meeting. In November the members were actively engaged in collecting and delivering baskets of food for needy families throughout the Quad-Cities. Working to create and exemplify high moral standards was the aim of every YFC member.

Thirty-three persons from the club were privileged to attend the State YFC Conference "Holiday Cluberama," held at the University of Illinois. With spring came the close of the club's social as well as spiritual activities.

Admiring the trophy they won for having the best attendance at the youth rallies in 1958 are the YFC officers; Gary Hallberg, treasurer; Jacque Olson, secretary; Charlotte Sandstrom, vice-president; and Duane Vogel, president.

Looking ahead to a successful year the Key Club officers Kent Peterson, treasurer; Grant McKernie, historian; Dave Wilson, president; and Dan Louden, vice-president, pose before the club banner at the September meeting. Absent is John Hayes, secretary.

Examining a scale drawing of the sign which the Key Club gave to the school are John Morgan, Dale Weaver, chairman of the committee, and Chuck Berglund. The sign was placed along the drive leading to the school.

Key Club Generous with

Following its motto of "we build," the Key Club built a well rounded program of activities throughout the past year. Club members served as ushers at all the football and basketball games and also at the tournament rounds held at Wharton Field House.

Another service performed by the club was that of conducting students through the new building during registration week in August. On several occasions, such as dedication day, they also guided special groups around the new school.

A gift of 150 dollars was the Key Club's donation toward next year's exchange student, while a large sign for the front of the building was the club's gift to the entire school. The annual sale of school activity calendars helped to raise money for these projects. Other activities included an entry in the M Men's Day parade and the sponsorship of two after-game dances.

The Moline Kiwanis Club and its junior division, the Key Club, exchanged representatives at their meetings. The junior organization aided their sponsoring group in the annual peanut day drive and at the pancake supper.

Under the able leadership of Mr. Archie Swanson, club members worked throughout the year to develop initiative and leadership, and to prepare themselves for a useful citizenship through service to the school and the community.

By the solemn looks on their faces, it appears that Tom Hokinson and Ken Exline are not about to be deterred from their floor sweeping duties by the jeers of their accomplices Dave Burkland, Ben Gaskin and Ken Jones. These are only a few of the many Key Clubbers who are busy workers at each basketball game.

Time, Treasury, Talent

Don Sullivan and John Ericson look on as Marty Shaffer points out the next Key Club meeting on one of the school calendars which the club sold in the fall.

"This is the best part of the whole evening," Bob Johnson, Dave Hyland, Ron Cobert, Bruce Huston and John Bergerson seem to be thinking as they indulge in doughnuts and pop after a club meeting at Butterworth Center.

Looking forward to a successful year are JCL officers Pat McFarland, president; Grant McKernie, vice-president; Adena Peterson, secretary; Scott Ferguson, treasurer; Becky Russman, attendance secretary.

Tempus Fugit — JCL Membra Latina Noscunt

Under the sponsorship of Miss Fern Slusher and Mr. Ralph McMinn, the Junior Classical League completed its eighteenth year of activity. The Latin Club greatly expanded since its beginning and now has over one hundred and thirty members. It is a member of both the State and National Junior Classical Leagues.

The purpose of JCL is to further acquaint students with Roman life and customs. Plays, panel discussions, and papers featuring Roman culture were presented at the meetings.

Three entrants from each year of study are allowed to enter the state Latin contest, which is an important part of JCL's program. Club dues are used to pay entrance fees for the contest. MHS has won top honors for third and fourth years of study for five consecutive years.

Each of the six meetings held during the year was planned to present various programs concerning Roman culture. The final meeting was a picnic at which next year's officers were installed.

Unlike last year's organization, the Spanish Club was made up of only one group this year. The membership of both first and second year students reached a total of seventy-six.

Headlining the club's busy program were many various activities. A project was undertaken of selling tags for one of the East Moline games, which proved to be quite successful. Christmas was celebrated by playing the traditional Spanish games, featuring the century-old piñata. Support was given the exchange student program by this club with the money they received from a cupcake sale.

A traditional banquet climaxed the year's activities. At that time, certificates were presented by Mr. Mace Gordon, the sponsor, to all students who maintained an A average in Spanish. The second year student with the highest average for two years was awarded a cup.

Members Awed by Glimpses of French Life

Pausing for a brief chat before school, French Club officers Nancy Sims, president; Dave Velarde, vice-president; Sandy Richardson, treasurer; and Belinda Cleaves, secretary, discuss plans for their next meeting.

"A little bit of France" was the atmosphere of the French Club's initiation. First year students were required to dress as French mademoiselles and monsieurs and to speak only French. Showing off their apparel are Bonnie Schultz, Sue Hoppe, Judy Nielson, Rich Hufford, Dewey Dyer and Dave Velarde.

"Vive la France" could very well be the theme of the activities of the French Club, sponsored by Mrs. Helen Piehl.

Starting off the year with great gaiety, the first year students were initiated into the "Le Cerçle français" by being dressed in dashing French peasant costumes. History was once again repeated when the old French customs of the can-can and grape stamping were made part of the program.

The monthly meetings brought forth the political and cultural aspects of that romantic country. One of the highlights of the year was an informal talk given to the group by a senior at Augustana who had been an exchange student to France.

Entering a float in the Homecoming Parade provided fun and school spirit for members. The theme of the float was "Squash 'Em" in which a barn, tub, and peasant girls stamping on grapes carried out the trend. The float received fourth place on the ladder of the ten place winners.

A successful year was brought to a happy end when the members of the club enjoyed a barbecue picnic at a local park. Besides enjoying the delicious food, scholastic awards were presented and the new officers were installed.

Brushing up on parliamentary procedure before an FTA meeting are the officers Judy Murphy, treasurer; Donna Babich, vice-president; Sandy Carlson, president; Phyllis Simon, recording secretary; Jo Velon, secretary.

This year sixty-four prospective teachers, working through the Alice Wheelock Chapter of the Future Teachers of America, gained practical experience and insight into the teaching profession.

Some students attended a division meeting of FTA at Shimer College, others ushered at the Rock Island County Teachers' Institute, and all members participated in the Blackhawk Division FTA meeting which the local group held in the spring.

Club members sponsored several financial activities in order to make a sizeable contribution to the Leota Hull Scholarship Fund, which is a project of the Moline Education Association. Two MHS graduates are currently benefiting from the fund.

Cadets Learn Teaching Problems, Solutions

Seventeen FTA members from MHS participated this year in the cadet teacher program, which is an annual activity of the club. Each girl engaged in the program assisted a classroom teacher in an elementary school. In a real life situation the student teachers had an opportunity to see if they were fitted for and would like teaching as a career.

Miss Fern Slusher and Miss Frieda Schnowske were faculty sponsors of this active group.

Part of a cadet teacher's training includes helping the children to improve their reading ability. Here Pat Gustafson and Faye Graham increase the children's vocabulary and amuse them at the same time.

F N A' ers Realize Challenge of Profession

Although the word future appears in the official name of FNA, the enthusiastic members were actively concerned with the present. They were not content to wait until graduation to become familiar with the duties and satisfactions of the nursing profession.

This year's members toured three local hospitals, assisted the physical therapist at Augustana Speech Clinic on Saturdays, and provided the children at the Augustana Speech Workshop with a Christmas party. Additional information and inspiration came from the club's meetings where qualified speakers and stirring movies were program features.

Mrs. Geneva Henss, school nurse, directed the activities of the sixty member club. The girls welcomed the opportunity to yield service, while gaining insight into the broad field of nursing. As the members became better informed about the profession, they often made a wiser choice of school subjects. Sociability and a profitable exchange of ideas resulted from the area meeting for which the MHS group was hostess in the spring.

Gathered around the medicine cabinet in the nurse's office are the FNA officers Virginia Dawson, secretary-treasurer; Sandy Denen, corresponding secretary; Sharon Close, vice-president; and Bev Hokanson, president.

Mrs. Henss prepares to remove a splinter from Bonnie Peterson's hand as Anita Dietz, Annette Dietz, and Pat McCullough look on with interest.

'Earn While Learning' Motto of D E Class

Studying a plan for the showcase are the DE officers Denny Titus, treasurer; Sandy Kingan, vice-president; Sue Hall, secretary; Bob Laxy, program chairman; and Gene Braggs, president.

Diligently working on a large heart to be used in the display window for February are DE members Sharon Safe, Sandy Kingan, Sue Hall, Pat Houghtaling and Sallye Ferry.

A tour of Chicago in May, including a visit to Marshall Field's, Maxwell Street, and the Merchandise Mart headlined the list of activities in which the Distributive Education Class took part. Other activities for the year included an odds and ends sale on merchandise given to the club by local retailers. They entered a float in the homecoming parade and had an exchange day with Rock Island and East Moline DE Clubs. In the spring they had their annual banquet at which they were host to five other DE Clubs.

Contributing to the Distributive Education newspaper, Co-op News, and keeping their display window ornamented rounded out their busy chain of activities.

"Earn while you learn," is the motto of the class under the direction of Miss Ruth Vertrees. They spend two hours a day in DE class and work fifteen hours a week in a local firm, for which they receive school credit.

"Heave-ho!" these girls seem to be saying as they pull taffy at the Home Ec Club Christmas party. The girls are Karen Morse, vice-president; Linda Williams, president; Anne Martel, secretary; and Carol Young, treasurer.

Home Ec Club Provides 'Spice of Life'

Oh, the spice of life! What is it? Why, food, naturally. The "spice of life" was shown in many different shapes and sizes to the girls attending the Home Economics Club meetings held throughout the year.

The chain of interesting meetings was started off by a wiener roast, with a taffy-pull, picnic, and potluck supper serving as follow-ups. Demonstrations on gift wrapping, preparation, and serving of snacks, and cake decorating headlined several of the after-school meetings.

The Home Ec Club acquired funds by sponsoring a doughnut sale in the main hall after school. Another project of the club was to provide a delicious, wholesome Thanksgiving dinner for a needy family in Moline.

"The object of the club is to learn more about home economics in the home and also for social purposes," stated Miss Lela Adams, who is assisted by Mrs. Annette Bonnell and Mrs. Helen Manus in the guidance of the group.

Intent in their work of developing pictures are Camera Club officers Phil Hall, vice-president; Sam Stewart, president; and Harold McWilliams, secretary-treasurer.

Two main objectives of the Camera Club were to organize several profitable activities for the members and to arouse the interest of the faculty and student body in the club.

To aid in the purchasing of supplies of equipment and materials, Camera Club co-sponsored an after-game dance with the Radio Club last winter.

Several members gained added experience by taking and developing pictures for the three publications.

The Camera Club members proved their knowledge of photography to teachers and classmates, as was their aim. As a result, they aided in photographic work when it was needed and helped in various projects throughout the year.

Mr. Darrell Goar, advisor of both Camera and Radio Clubs, spent many extra hours working with the enthusiastic boys.

Camera, Radio Boys Compare Shots, Sounds

Moline High School's first Radio Club has been carrying on a number of activities the past year.

The members successfully established a unique radio station at school. Another winter event of the group was an after-game dance co-sponsored with the Camera Club.

One of the highlights of the year was a visit to the WOC-TV transmitter station where the boys gained added experience and had an enjoyable time.

This is an ideal club for those interested in any phase of radio mechanical work. The organization offered many interesting experiences for members throughout the school year.

The boys can look back on the year as a profitable and enjoyable phase of their MHS activities.

It's a pleasant switch for Camera Club members John Gurrad, Claude Lawrence, Gary Hallberg, Fred Henninger, Gerry Gustafson, John Rinsquist and Jeff McFadyen to be in front of the camera instead of behind it.

Rifle, Library Members Set Aims High

Library Club members are, SITTING: Roger Greim, vice-president; Nancy Hill, secretary; Mary Jo Forslund, treasurer; Miss Curry, advisor; Lucky Furniss, president. STANDING: Bob Bjerke, Dorothy Fuller, Stephanie Rosenberg, Nancy Oehmich, Nancy Finch, Gloria Erickson, Pat McCann, Adena Peterson, Alice Bredt, Martha Sievers, Sue Parsons, and Judy Herbon.

Martha Sievers and Judy Herbon assist Miss Anderson, Mr. Krane, and Miss Day with their refreshments at the annual Library Club tea given for the faculty.

Reparing worn books was just a small part of the Library Club members' duties. During their free periods, student librarians were usually found assisting their sponsor, Miss Kathleen Curry, in the spacious new library. Miss Curry gave helpful advice and taught them the main functions of a library. Her assistants busily sorted, shelved and checked books and directed students. For each hour of work in the library a student earned one point. Achievement honor pins were presented to the students with the most points. During their monthly meetings, the members planned various activities, one of which was the annual faculty tea.

The MHS Rifle Club invaded Logan School every week to practice marksmanship under the competent supervision of Mr. Wayne Fuller. Club members, using rifles lent by the federal government, learned rifle safety and skill.

This sport has obviously become popular with the women as well as the men. The female Rifle Club members often emulate the boys, even though they are far outnumbered.

In the spring the members put their improved marksmanship to the test when they competed with other schools in the area.

Fine Arts

Checking the agenda for the next Fine Arts Club meeting are the officers: Grant McKernie, treasurer; Kathy Oehler, vice-president; Diane Kline, secretary; and Mary Yohn, president.

Smiling as they remember another successful club year are the sponsors, Miss Barbara Garst (seated), Mr. Dewayne Roush, Mr. Arthur Krane, and Mr. Donald Moeller. Absent from the picture is Miss Margaret Becker.

Fine Arts Season Ticket Sales Pass Goal

With the intent of creating better cultural standards fo MHS students, Fine Arts Club was busy this year with several projects to promote this interest.

Each year the club makes available to students a season ticket for all school stage productions. This year as successful sales campaign extended in the fall for one month. In February the organization sponsored the Shakespearean play, MACBETH. Also in February a fund raising project, an after-game dance was held.

Various monthly meetings touched on all phases of the arts. In October several people spoke on their musical occupations. The Christmas meeting proved to be a very interesting pageant presented on stage. One meeting was devoted to a tour of the complex backstage riggings in our new MHS auditorium.

The year was climaxed by the annual banquet where awards were presented to outstanding students in the four fields of art: vocal, dramatic, instrumental, and art.

Fine Arts was governed by a board of four officers and various faculty members in artistic fields: Miss Margaret Becker, vocal; Mr. Roush, dramatic; Mr. Donald Moeller, artistic; Miss Barbara Garst, dramatic; Mr. Arthur Krane, stage.

Watching the season-ticket-meter rise are Bob Johnson, Janice Payne, Mike Linder, and Mary Yohn.

Laughter, fireworks, and snakes added to the fun of "You Can't Take It with You," the first production to be presented on the new stage. This comedy, a smashing success, was directed by Mr. Dewayne Roush and presented Oct. 23 and 25.

Exemplifying the essence of the play was the Sycamore family, a zany, non-conformist, but lovable group who lived in hilarious harmony. Because of their philosophy that you can't take it with you after death, they lived simple, uninhibited lives. This included writing plays, practicing ballet, producing fireworks, selling candy, and even dodging taxes. All of the family participates in these activities except Alice, the only really sane member of the family. After falling in love with the boss's son, Alice has quite an adventure when her unusual family meets Tony's wealthy parents, who are appalled by the Sycamore's antics.

Certainly Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman's "You Can't Take It with You" set a fine precedent for future MHS productions.

Taking lessons in one of the finer arts is Donald, while Ed enjoys the pose of the two lovers, Tony and Alice.

Solemnity is the predominant expression in this scene, as Sabrina reveals her true love, Linus, to her father.

"She's more than a chauffeur's daughter to me, Mother," states David Larrabee, while his Aunt Julia, Father, and Margaret listen attentively.

Junior Class Dramatizes 'Sabrina Fair'

Centering around a chauffeur's daughter who rises above her social position was "Sabrina Fair," presented November 20 and 21 by the junior class under the able direction of Mrs. Kathryn Moore assisted by student directors Bonnie Seesland and Carolyn Olson.

After returning from a five year stay in Paris, Sabrina Fairchild finds she must decide with whom she is truly in love, a Frenchman or David Larrabee. The Larrabees are a well-known family of society for whom Sabrina's father works. Affairs are further complicated by the entrance of Linus Larrabee, Jr., who falls in love with Sabrina, too. The thread of social position and the thread of love do finally intertwine into a satisfactory conclusion.

Set design played an important part in this drama. Handled by Mr. Don Moller and his art crew, this proved to be one effective means of conveying the content of the play to the audience.

Posing for a picture during their break are a young man and woman, Gretchan, and David and Linus Larrabee.

Committees for "Sabrina Fair" were headed by Doug Burley, John Marsho, Jody Marquis, Karen Dingle, Peg Spitznas, and Carolyn Olson.

Plotting Duncan's murder are Macbeth (Ralph Mawdsley) and Lady Macbeth (Mardee Melin), just out of the hearing of Banquo (Bob Gibson) and Lennox (Dale Mott).

"Double, double, toil and trouble; fire burn, and caldron bubble," chant the Three Weird Sisters, Sharon Benton, Bonnie Seesland, and Terry Coberley.

Shakespeare Era Relived During 'Macbeth'

Not scenery, but lighting created the unusual effects when "Macbeth" was presented by the Fine Arts Club on February 12 and 13. One of Shakespeare's greatest tragedies, the play was directed by Miss Barbara Garst and Mr. DeWayne Roush and had a cast of over seventy students.

With its setting in ancient Scotland, the play shows the change which is wrought in Macbeth, a trusted Scottish general, as the lust for power gets its hold on him. Macbeth while on the way home from battle, meets three cackling witches in a deserted stretch of woods. These hags make two prophecies — that Macbeth will become Thane of Cawdor and that he will become king. Of course, Macbeth is impressed by these predictions, but not until the honor of becoming the Thane of Cawdor is conferred upon him, does he really take the prophecies seriously.

With the urging of his wife, Macbeth decides that there is no sense waiting for the second forecast to come true, so he ruthlessly murders the king and covers up his heinous crime by framing the king's bodyguards who are dead drunk at the time of the murder. The deception works. The king's sons flee for their lives, and Macbeth becomes king. His troubles aren't over though. No indeed! His terrible secret must be kept safe. One murder follows another, but to no avail. Macduff and several other noblemen begin to suspect the truth, and they gather an army against him. Tricked into seeming security by more predictions from the witches, Macbeth fights a duel with Macduff and loses his life. Macduff triumphantly presents the tyrant's head on a stake to the king's son, who is the rightful heir to the throne.

Paying respects to Lady Macbeth (Mardee Melin) are two ladies-in-waiting (Kathy Oehler and Sandy Hogg) and Lady Macduff (Ann Starkey).

The Elizabethan court was never more royal than in this scene with Tom Genn, Grant McKernie, Kathy Oehler, Gary Waffle, Bob Gibson, Rodney Gale, Quintin Ford, Gary Anderson, Sandy Hogg, and Pat Evans.

"Properties, where is that property committee?" exclaims a disgusted director, Mr. DeWayne Roush.

"Knock, knock! Who's there, in the devil's name?" asks the drunken porter (Chuck Berglund) of two slaves (Ed Gale and Tom Blade) and of Fleance (Spiro Dellos).

Honoring the future "dead butcher and his fiend-like queen" are Banquo (Bob Gibson), Angus (Gary Covault), and Caithness (Quintin Ford).

Edward Grieg (John Theorell) and his sweetheart, Nina Hagerup (Judy Lawless) watch Countess Louisa (Mary Yohn) give orders to her husband, Count Pepi (Chuck Berglund) as Father and Mother Grieg (Carol Caddy and Bob Johnson) watch on.

Remembering the mountains and fiords of Norway, and with the mystically beautiful strains of Edvard Grieg's music ringing in our ears, enthusiastic audiences will remember the Operetta Workshop's production of "Song of Norway" on March 21 and 22 as a truly unforgettable experience.

Picturesque villages of the nineteenth century were recreated in authentic detail to form the setting for the romantic story of the great composer, Edvard Grieg. Color-costuming for the cast of ninety added to the delightful portrayals of sturdy, loyal Norwegian folk. The elegant ballroom scene was breathtaking with its beautifully attired ladies and its dignified gentlemen.

Assembled for rehearsal of the operetta, "Song of Norway," is the entire cast.

Characterize 'Song of Norway'

As the story of Grieg's conflicting love for his home country and people and his desire for fame and prestige in the musical world unfolded, the music of his genius enchanted the listeners. The audiences were charmed by the merry "Freddie and His Fiddle," they were thrilled by the themes of his "Piano Concerto," and they were haunted by the melody of "Strange Music." Dancers gaily performed clever folk dances and dramatic ballet sequences. All of this music was motivated by Grieg's love for the beautiful Nina, by his fascination for the fiery Countess Louisa and by his devotion to his first love, Norway.

Freddie the Fiddler (Jim Pulford) accompanies the Prima Ballarina (Gale Jones) and two of her partners (Gary Grissom and Spiro Dellas) in a sequence from "Song of Norway."

On the music totem pole we find the leads in "Song of Norway." Top man is Edward Grieg (John Theorell), next is Father Grieg (Bob Johnson), Countess Louisa (Mary Yohn), Rikaard Nordraak (Gary Anderson), and Nina Hagerup (Judy Lawless).

Norway's answer to the "Rockettes" include the following: Hettye Stewart, Julie Eastland, Margi Eihl, Terry Eveland, Margaret Eihl, Gale Jones, Nonie Moorhusen, Linda Lum, Julie Donaldson, and Judy Johnston.

"Out, darned spot, out I say," might be aptly quoted by this aspiring group of Shakespearian actresses doing a take-off on "Macbeth," Pam Heeren, Carol Young, Betty Spore, Pat Settles, and Betty York.

'Bar None' Delights All

A rollicking Western comedy, "Bar None," the 22nd annual ADC Fellowship production was presented by the senior class on April 23rd and 24th on the new Moline High School stage. Featuring a great diversity of senior class talent, the show was a tremendous success, playing to a large crowd each night. Approximately two hundred students participated in this hilarious performance under the able direction of Miss Barbara Garst. The members of the "Bar None" chorus, in their colorful outfits, sang a variety of cowboy songs. Keeping the audience roaring with laughter between the acts, Gary Waffle and Frank Olson were emcees for the production. The steering committee, composed of Kathy Oehler, John Morgan, Nancy Reed, Bob Gibson, Jim Stuart, Karen Radcliffe, Brian Plunkett, Gary Waffle, Jo Velon, and Pam Heeren wrote the script and, with the help of Miss Garst, produced the show.

"Bar None" will be one of the senior classes' most pleasant memories of its last year at Moline High School.

"Honest, Gary, I'm not pulling your leg," yells Frank Olson to co-emcee, Gary Waffle.

How bow-legged can you be, might be asked of these Western lassies: Gale Jones, Judy Nielsen, Karen Hoermann, Nancy Reed, Cris Calvert, Marlo Sellers, and Linda Williams.

"This singing is wearing us out," gasp Gary Waffle, Tom Hokinson, and Larry Spiegel, members of ADC singing group.

Thespians, Crew Illumine New Stage

An intricate network of lights, sound and scenery equipment comparable to some of the country's best theaters are a part of the stage in the new auditorium. No one knows more about the technicalities of the stage than the crew members: John Light, Irvin Stewart, Dale Ziegler, Don Vollrath, David Griffin, Tom Gustafson, Bob Schenk, Tom Bump, Dale Weaver, Reuben Palomo, and John Steenberg.

Under the supervision of Mr. Arthur Krane, the boys designed and controlled the lighting, sound effects, and curtain arrangement for each stage production.

During each production two boys control the switchboard; one works the curtains and one controls the sound effects. Each boy is given the opportunity to work at every job.

Almost any lighting combination can be achieved from the lighting control located on a high platform backstage. One hundred and eight lighting circuits from all over the stage are centered at this switchboard.

The ancient Greek, Thespian, is reputed to be the founder of drama. Thus, the modern society of actors, the National Thespians, is named in his honor. Moline High School's Troupe number 1900 was formed to promote the advancement of and encourage dramatic arts.

This was the first year MHS organized a troupe, comprised of twelve students. Each of the members had accumulated fifty points of credit in their years at high school, point values varying from ten points for a lead in a play to one point for two hours work on a production.

Officers of the troupe are as follows: Ralph Mawdsley, president; Mardee Melin, vice-president; Mardy Anderson, secretary; Jim Stuart, treasurer; Sandy Hogg and Peggy Helstrom, scribes.

Inspecting the stage riggings are Irvin Stewart, Jim Light, Dale Ziegler, and Don Vollrath.

"Sidewalk superintendents" watching John Steenberg screw in a light bulb are Irwin Stewart, Dale Ziegler, David Griffin, Bob Schenk, and Don Vollrath.

Singers Spark M H S Productions

As strains of harmonious melodies float over the quietness of the still school halls, MHS students know that chorus was being taught five periods a day.

"One Night of Melody," presented in October, was the first musical production this year. Using all of the choral members, these groups organized the program around the theme, "Around the World in Eighty Minutes."

Several choral groups were formed for "High Notes of Harmony," presented early in December, such as the Girls' Quartet.

The traditional Christmas Vespers added a festive touch to the MHS holiday celebrations. Presenting a special Christmas assembly was just another phase of the musical program.

District and state music contests were entered by several MHS singers in the spring.

During Holy Week, the choruses became active to provide the sacred and revered atmosphere necessary for the success of the programs. These services were organized and conducted by students from both the Hi-Y and Y-Teen clubs.

The MHS choir was first organized in 1942 by Miss Margaret Becker. Up to that time the high school had only a Glee Club in which forty boys and girls took part. They did very little singing in productions or for outside organizations. All the actual performing was left to a choral club, composed of twelve boys and girls.

Symphonette Organizes Pit Orchestra

This year with a new director, Mr. Lee Hillis, Jr., and a more than doubled membership, the Symphonette has had a busy schedule. Their first appearance of the season was "High Notes of Harmony" in which they were assisted by the vocal department.

During January two members of the symphonette, Verna Hammond and Amalie Smith, were selected to attend the all-state music festival at the University of Illinois. This state-wide event is attended annually by outstanding senior high school musicans.

In February several students entered solos and ensembles in the state music contest. Later in the spring, the symphonette journeyed to Monmouth for the Mississippi Valley Music Festival. During Music Week the orchestra presented a variety of numbers in the high school music festival.

Probably the function most enjoyed by the members of the symphonette was providing the instrumental music for the operetta, "Song of Norway," presented by the operetta workshop. The last performance of the year was played at the June graduation exercises.

An experiment this year was the theater symphonette, or "pit orchestra." This smaller group of musicians was formed to provide music before the plays and during the intermissions. Staying after school one night a week for practice, the members of the pit orchestra received credit for the extra time spent and enjoyed playing for the dramatic performances.

Quartets, Trio, Dancers Festivate Programs

Gracing the stage of MHS this year was the Girls' Trio composed of three senior girls. Well-known and liked throughout the city, they were booked at the Butterworth Center, the Scottish Rite Cathedral, and many churches. Performing at exchange assemblies constituted just another phase of these girls' lives.

Under the direction of Nonie Moorhusen, the operetta dancers created memorable performances this year. Appearing for the first time in their famous "gunny sacks" and red tights, they danced their way to popularity and immediately were chosen as exchange material for the Rock Island assembly. Perfecting their intricate routines and graceful movements even more, they danced in the annual Christmas program and appeared in the operetta, "Song of Norway."

Two newly formed groups this year were the Sophomore Girls' Quartet and the Boys' Quartet. These girls and their accompanist made their debut early in the year on the MHS stage by singing for the "High Notes of Harmony." The Boys' Quartet filled the air with music written by Frank Mullenix, a member of their group.

Three singin' senior sweethearts, Mary Yohn, Judy Lawless, and Janice Payne, practice with their accompanist, Bob Johnson.

These pert lasses are members of the Sophomore Girls' Quartet: Linda Donaldson, Nancy Oehmich, Pam Hogren, and Rita Phillips. Pianist is Joan Stutz.

Fit as a fiddle and ready for a song is this Boys' Quartet: David Barr, Paul Maddelein, Ted Leslie, Frank Mullenix.

Pausing for a picture during a practice session are the pert majorettes, Marlene Loding, Nancy McCauley, Sandy Bendle, and Pat Settles.

"One, two, three, play," counted the eighty-three piece MHS band as they performed on numerous occasions under the enthusiastic direction of Dr. Willard A. Starkey. Providing zesty melodies with talent was the chief duty of this celebrated MHS group.

Performing at five home football games, the band expertly executed the formations practiced daily on the MHS athletic field. The group also sparked the attendance at an out-of-town game by traveling to Cedar Rapids. Their intricate patterns were previously mapped out by a committee composed of Karen Techlin, Beverly Bergstrom, and Ann Starkey. Some of the novelty acts planned by this committee were "Safety First," "Music in the Air, "Westward Ho," and "Sack's Appeal."

Adding something new to their format, the band gave a demonstration concert for John Deere and Coolidge Junior High in the spring. Other concerts in which the MHS band was featured were held at DeWitt and Clinton.

To be in the band, members this year found that they had to sacrifice several extra-curricular activities in order to spend the necessary time and effort so that they could become a real asset to the group. Night practices consumed much of this time along with the actual concerts.

Widening their scopes of interest, they exposed their audiences to three distinct types of music during the year: marches for the football games, popular music for the basketball games, and classical for the concerts and special assemblies. In all the band mastered around one hundred twenty-five pieces.

Rounding out their season by presenting their annual spring concert April 3, the band displayed originality and exceptional skill as they performed for assemblies and participated in district, regional, and state music contests.

Athletics

Practicing for perfection, the peppy varsity cheerleaders Nonie Moorhusen, Gloria Anderson, Bev Bergstrom, Joyce Thorngren, and Pat McFarland capably led the Maroons to victory.

Perky Pepsters Practice for Perfection

WHAT'S THE WORD!! Echoing across the fields and through the gym were resounding cheers led by the MHS cheerleaders during the football and basketball seasons. Clad in new jackets obtained during the football season, the girls led the Maroons through rough times into the limelight of athletic circles.

After being chosen at a student assembly in September, the cheerleaders practiced to attain greatness every night after school. Under the confident guidance of Miss Frances Leimkuehler and Mrs. Jean Carlson, the ten regular sophomore and varsity girls and their alternates changed the practice schedule to twice a week.

Having the chance to serve as captain for the week proved to be the peak of enjoyment for sophomore and varsity regulars. Each week a different person was chosen to select cheers for both the pep assembly and game. One of the highlights of alternate members was the opportunity to lead yells in a game during both football and basketball seasons. At the finish of the basketball season, an honorary captain was chosen for each, sophomores and varsity.

In hopes of creating greater interest in school spirit, the cheering corps initiated the use of various organizations to sponsor and plan entertaining and educational pep assemblies. To introduce the new plan, a "Panther Hunt" was held before the East Moline football game. Among organizations sponsoring were Lettermen's, Student Congress, and the band.

A cartwheel of radiant faces comprises the varsity cheerleaders Pat McFarland, Nonie Moorhusen, Joyce Thorngren, Gloria Anderson, and Bev Bergstrom.

Vivacious sophomore cheerleaders Carolyn Bergstrom, Kris Anderson, Marlo Brotman, Pam Hogren, and Vicki Seitz backed our team throughout the year.

"T-E-A-M" yell the varsity alternate cheerleaders Pennie Clymer, Pam Bell, Nan Rosborough, Sandy Harrelson, and Karen Hyink.

Shari Ingemunson, Cindy Johnson, Peggy Kint, Phyllis Sellers, and Linda Dempsey served as sophomore alternates this year.

Varsity Gridders End with Top Performances

Ken Funk guided Moline's football squad through the 1958 gridiron season serving as head coach in his first year on the coaching staff. Funk comes to MHS from Carollton, Ohio, where he served as head football coach for four years and taught mathematics and physical education. Six other men composed the coaching staff. Al Stevens and Chuck Laws handled the defensive backs and defensive line, respectively. Dale Pauley coached the offensive line and Bill Baltzell shaped up the offensive backfield men. Dick Lewis guided the defensive ends while the offensive ends trained under Fritz Boom.

The Maroon team got off to a slow start by losing the season's opener to Dubuque, 25—7. Moline's only TD was scored on a 70-yard punt return by Tom Seitz in the fourth quarter. The squad showed promise in their second test when they battled Jefferson to a 7—7 deadlock on Browning's Field. Seitz climaxed a 79-yard drive with the only Maroon touchdown for the evening. Moline dropped the next four games to Rock Island, Washington, East Moline, and Iowa City. Players scoring MHS touchdowns were Ron Gunn, Denny Dhabalt, Dan DeCoster and Seitz. two.

Hard work and determination finally paid off when Moline upset the Davenport Blue Devils 19—7. Denny Dhabalt scored the first marker from the four yard line following a Davenport fumble and completed a later offensive drive with his second TD for the evening. Wrapping up the ball game in the final quarter was a junior halfback, Dick Hoke, who sent 26 yards through the line to score.

The following weekend the Maroon gridiron men silenced the Clinton bleachers by overpowering the favored Clinton team 46—0. During the ball game DeCoster and Seitz each scored two touchdowns while Hoke, Dhabalt, and Earl Davis tallied one scoring sprint each.

Moline tied Alleman 7—7 on the Rock Island field in their final game of the season. Ron Gunn pushed a quarterback sneak over from the two yard line to send Moline into the lead. Alleman retaliated in the last half to tie the game 7—7.

It's difficult to distinguish by the haggard looks on the faces of the coaches whether it's a morning or a mourning session during the early part of the season.

Moline	6	Rock Island	13
Moline	7	Washington	12

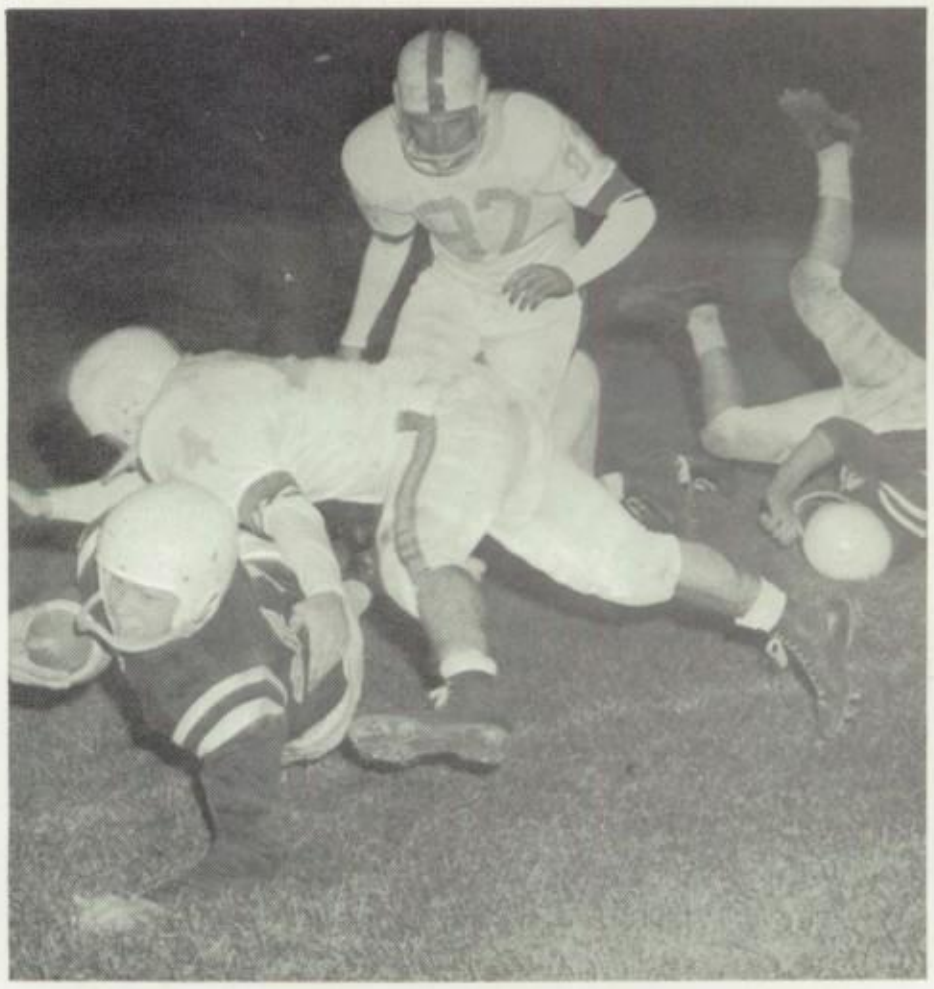
Outstanding linemen in the Maroon squad included ends Roger Pfetzing, Dan DeCoster, Jerry Duke, and Don Weime. The three anchor men in the rugged Moline defensive line were center Bruce Peterson and tackles Dale Mott and Bob Bryan. Other impressive linemen were Curt Roseman, John Anders, and Jerry Ozanne. The high efficiency of the defensive backfield was due to prime linebackers Dave Hyland and Duane Schrader, and Gary Waffle, a hard tackling senior.

Largely handling the backfield responsibilities of the gridders were quarterbacks Ron Gunn and Jim Officer; halfbacks Tom Seitz and Dick Schluter; and fullback Denny Dhabalt. Offensive backs scored at least once in every game. Veteran Seitz, the only senior of the group, carried 96 times for 571 net yards and a 5.9 average. Schluter, a junior, carried 74 times for 320 yards. Kicker for the outfit was Norm Aguirre, who kicked extra points and punted the squad out of trouble 34 times averaging 30.2 yards a boot.



"Grin and bear it" is Tom Seitz's theory when pounced upon by a Davenport gridder while an unidentified Moliner kicks up a storm in the background.

"Hey, wait for me," cries Gary Waffle as George Paquette, Alleman player, steps by for a gain in the 7—7 tie with the Pioneers.

Giving the Maroons a big boost toward victory is Denny Dhabalt's thrust through the line for Moline's first touchdown in their initial win of the season.

Moline's sophomore gridders finished their season this year by accomplishing two wins and seven losses. Although not having a good season, the boys acquired the much needed knowledge to be used in their second year of high school football. Coach Ken Funk, starting his first year of coaching the boys, said that the primary purpose for having sophomore football is to give the boys better training for varsity ball.

The Little Maroons started out their season by defeating Clinton but then lost four games. These included Washington, Rock Island, Jefferson and East Moline. Their next victory was over Dubuque, which was followed by losses to Davenport, Clinton and Alleman.

Traveling with the team on their out of town trips was assistant coach, Dale Pauley. Assisting with the coaching at home games were Dick Lewis and Chuck Laws. The coaches considered their team quite successful for at the end of the season four boys had moved up to play in the B-team games.

After the final game of the season two boys, Steve Rogenski and Curt Cook, were chosen by the team to be honorary captains. These boys along with their twenty-five teammates received letters at the end of the season.

Sophomores Complete Their First MHS Sport

Putting the finishing touches on the football season by folding and boxing all equipment are sophomore and varsity managers Tom Hokinson, Jim Pruitt, Gerry Gustafson, Gary Langwith, Jim Hokinson and Curt Carlson.

The Moline cross-country team proudly ended the 1958 season as district and unofficial Quad-City champions. Under the guidance of coach Gene Shipley, the squad compiled a record of 6 wins and 1 loss in dual competition, equaling the record of last year's which included state champion Ray Ott and runner-up Bob Lindrud. This year the team took second place in the Mississippi Valley Conference cross-country meet at Dubuque, losing to Jefferson of Cedar Rapids by 7 points. The next week they went on to win the District meet at Geneseo. At the State run in Champaign, Moline captured 13th place out of 15 teams. The harriers won the unofficial Quad-City title by winning a triangular meet with Davenport and Rock Island and by defeating East Moline by 20 points in a dual contest.

Varsity runners this year were Captain Bill Burgess, Bill Millington, Gary Capouch, Dave Jackson, Wiley Wright, Dave Johnson, and Tim Guss. Running on their home course of 1 7/8 miles in Black Hawk State Park, the team was never defeated. At the Conference meet Burgess placed 7th, Jackson 12th, Millington 14th, Capouch 18th, and Guss 22nd. At the District meet, Moline avenged a previous loss to East Moline by defeating them 57 to 64 with Burgess taking 4th and Wiley Wright 9th.

Major letters were presented at a special assembly program to seniors Bill Burgess and Bill Millington; juniors Gary Capouch, Dave Jackson, and Dave Johnson; sophomores Wiley Wright and Tim Guss; and manager Joe Hawotte.

The sophomore squad went undefeated this year, winning Conference and Quad-City titles. Sophomore numeral winners were Chuck Wright, Ken Carlson, Ed Beard, and Dave Bengtson.

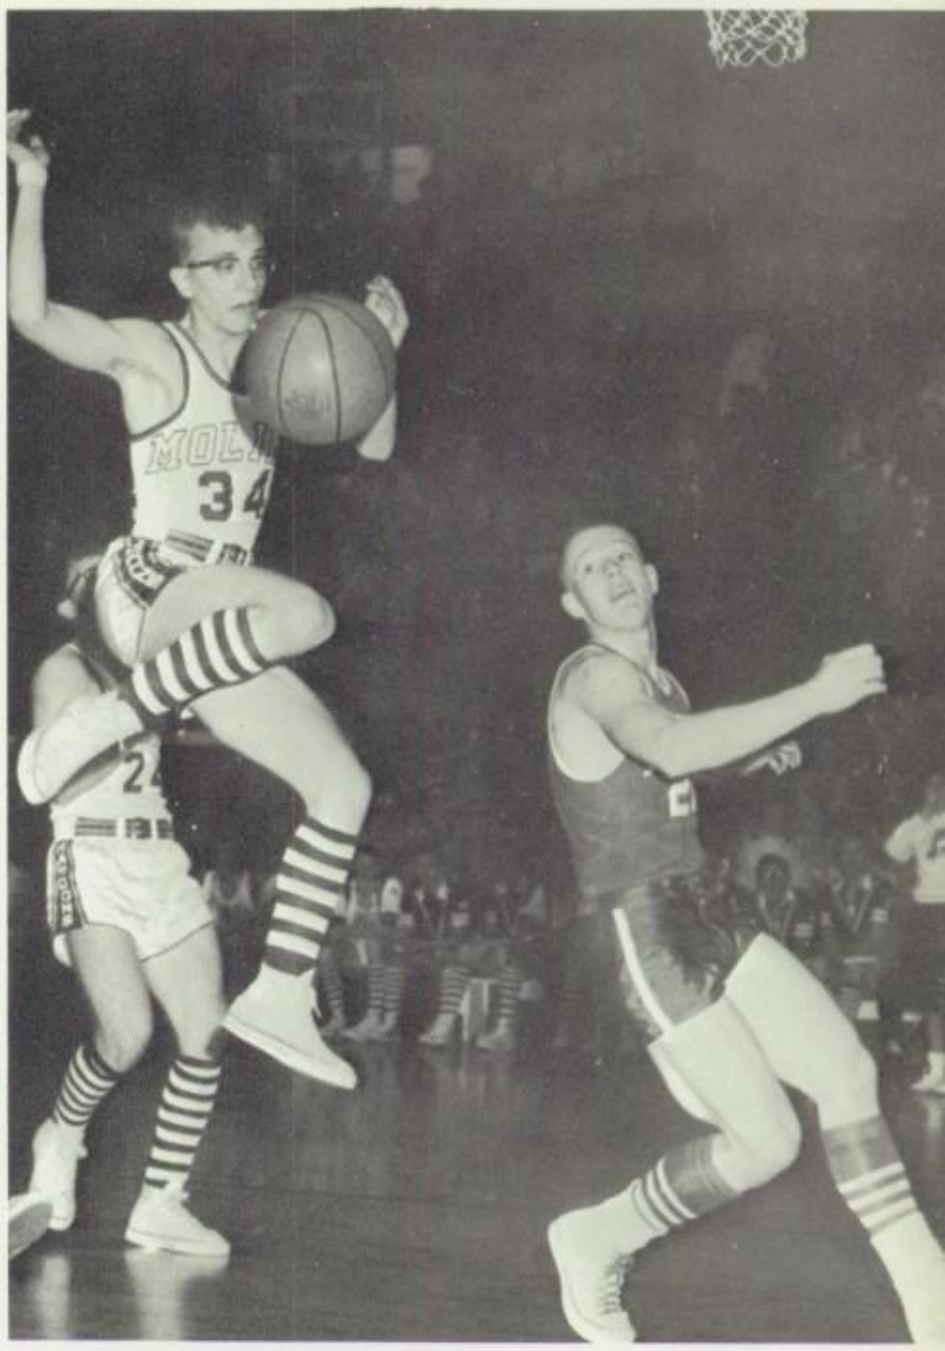
Tom Seitz and Robbie Helfrich, Maroon returning lettermen, confer with Coach Jack Foley and Assistant Coach Bill Bishop on plans for the season.

Moline's varsity basketball squad started out slow this year dropping their first four ball games despite high recognition in pre-season polls.

In the opener with Alleman, coaches, Jack Foley and Bill Bishop sent Charlie Officer and Al Carius in at starting forward positions, Larry Guerrero and Robbie Helfrich at guards, and Al Eastland held down the center post. The Pioneers downed the Maroons 54—48 on the field house floor. The Moline cagers showed early season greenness in their next three consecutive defeats from East Rockford, Galesburg, and Dubuque. Against Jefferson, the squad showed skillful advancement and set the J-Hawks back 83—35. In the first traditional tilt with Rock Island, the Maroons pulled up from a half-time deficit of nine points to slide over the Rocks 58—53. Washington fell next, 72—51 to the increasing pace of the Maroons. The Panthers collapsed Moline 73—51 on the East Moline court. In the first game of 1959, Moline punched out a 70—63 victory over the Little Hawks of Iowa City, only to be set back again the following night at Davenport when the Blue Devils raced to a 69—56 triumph.

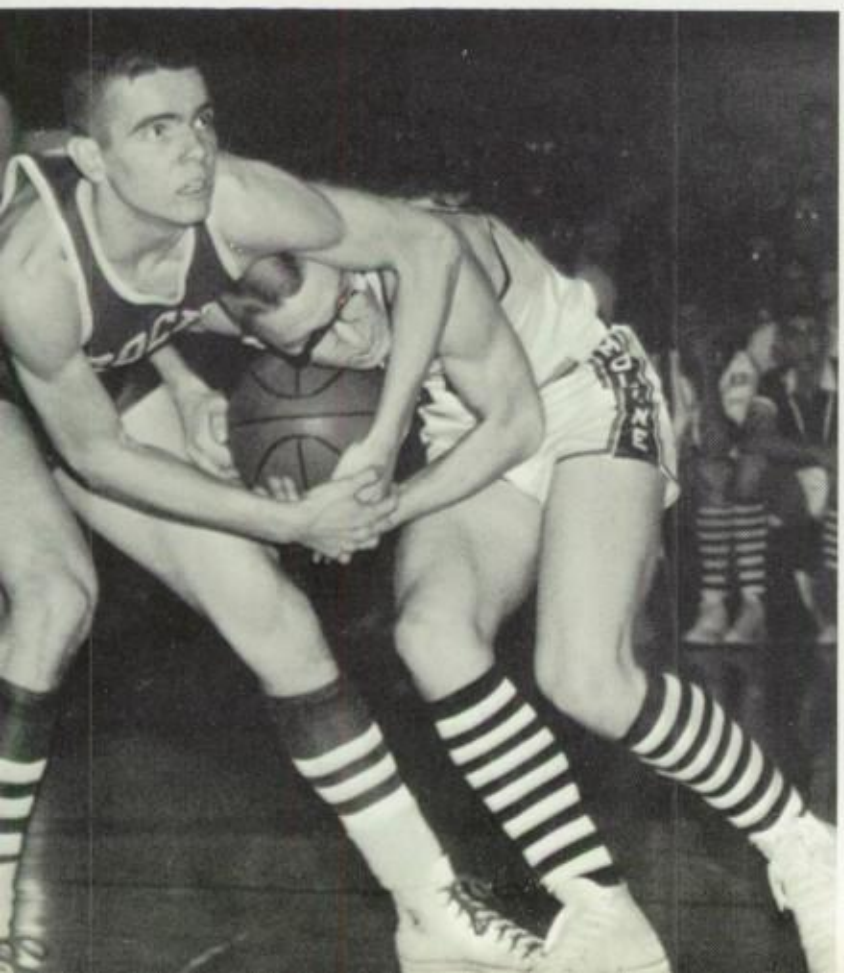
Midway through the schedule, the Maroon cagers smoothed out their court play and proceeded in the traditional MHS fashion. Clinton fell to a sweeping Maroon victory 53—32. On January 16 and 17, Moline dumped Dubuque 75—50 and then Jefferson 82—40. The following weekend, the MHS courtmen met Rocky for the second time and dashed to a 60—46 win. In the remainder of the season, Moline rolled up victories over the highly-ranked non-conference teams of Elgin, Quincy, and DuSable. East Moline scratched out a three point victory 56—53 in the second Maroon vs. Panther clash at the field house. In the last three Mississippi Valley Conference games, Iowa City, Davenport, and Clinton, the steady Maroons took three victories.

After juggling the lineup at the beginning of the season, Coach Foley settled down to the combination of Larry Hultgren and Tom Seitz at guards, Ray Hamilton and Charlie Officer in the forward slots, and Al Eastland as center.



"Who, me take ballet?" seems to be the question of Moline's leaping Larry Hultgren as he jumps through mid-air.

It looks as though someone had their sports confused when Don Rose was held in this headlock by the Rock's Bob Brissey.



"You think we don't work," asks Alan Larsen, as the other varsity managers, Spiro Dellos, Ron Hayes, and Bill Haywood diligently figure the statistics for each of the players.

Tennis Belles Invincible During Season

Practice and more practice by Janet Burkland and Bev Bergstrom helped the girls maintain an undefeated fall season.

Instilled with a winning spirit and a unique "smile" campaign, the MHS girls' tennis fortunes rose to a peak performance this year.

Formed from a nucleus of six returnees from last year's team, the girls combined their efforts for a perfect six win-no loss fall season. Gliding along at championship pace, the racqueteers captured the Quad-City singles and doubles tournaments.

Under the guidance of Miss Carol Coin the girls were taught more than basic actions on the court. In working for good sportsmanship and team unification, a slight grin or whole-hearted smile proved to be the most potent weapon. A pleasant attitude and knowledge of the game combined for the resourceful season.

In playing a schedule of twelve matches, the team met each Quad-City high school a total of four times throughout the fall and spring activity. Included in these four meets were two singles and two doubles matches with each school playing host to two engagements. The Quad-City champion is determined at the termination of the full season according to the records of participating schools.

Holding positions on the MHS team were seniors Bev Bergstrom and Janet Burkland, juniors Carol Fage, Karen Hyink, Alice Masengarb, Diane Rose, Marianne Rosenberg and Beverly White, and sophomore, Janet Swaine.

Vying for openings on the team was a large group of sophomores and juniors who next year will fill two vacancies left by the graduation of this year's number one and three players.

Netsters Display Good Sportsmanship

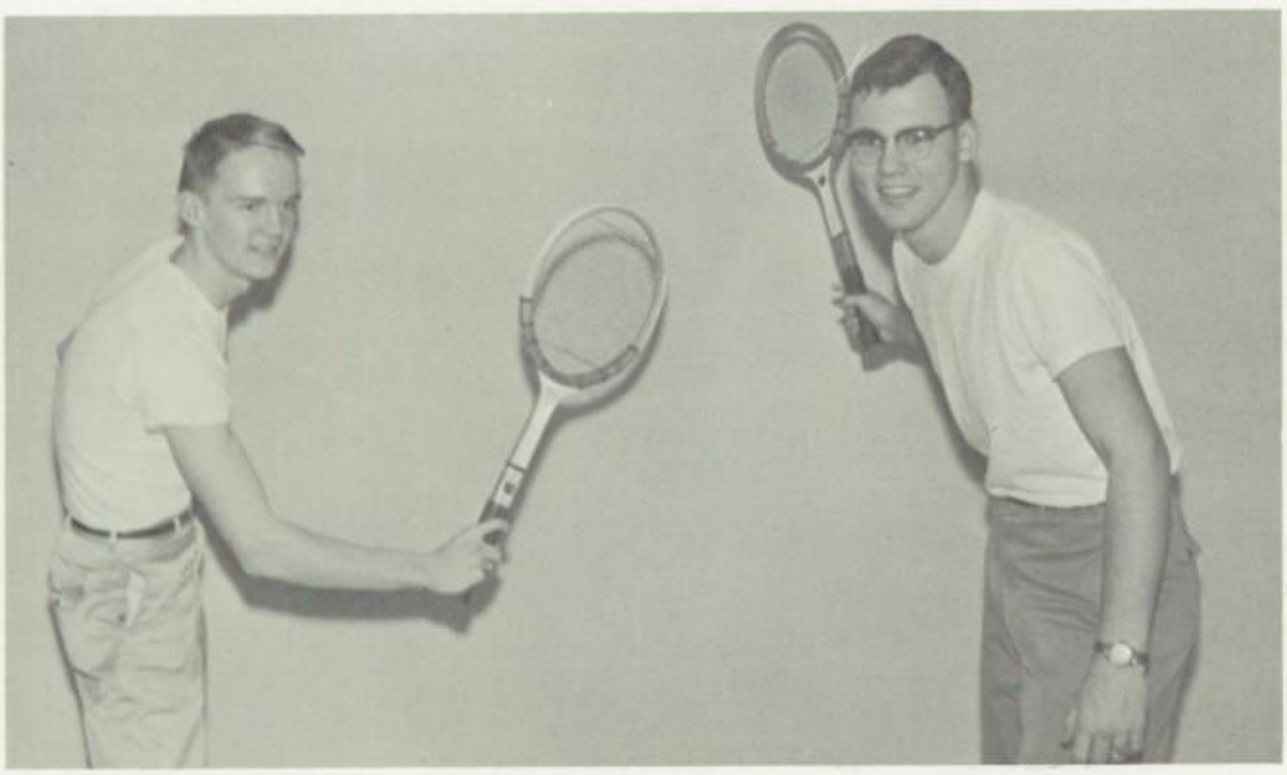
In his second year as boys' tennis coach at MHS, Mr. Ken Johnson built his fifteen man squad around his two returning lettermen, Alan Van Hull and Pete Holm, and a sophomore, Dick Goepel, who was the only other player with tournament experience.

With two seniors, six juniors, and eight sophomores on the squad Coach Johnson said concerning his young team, "We have concentrated on building this year and I am especially proud of the boys' display of sportsmanship."

Johnson also predicted that the promise of the near future of six hard surface tennis courts on the southeast section of the school property will increase local interest in the sport. Tennis, which according to Coach Johnson is "the finest conditioning sport of all sports" may gain in popularity in the near future.

This year's squad in addition to Alan Van Hall and Pete Holm, seniors, consisted of juniors Jim Light, Bruce Chidester, Jerry Gellersteadt, Don Ruggles, H. B. Simmons, and Chuck Stang. Other sophomores in addition to Dick Goepel were Larry Johnson, Don Olson, Bill Armstrong, John Lindquist, Larry Warren, John Bergerson, and Larry Light.

Squad members took pride in their own success for the year, and they were also on hand to cheer their coach when he won the men's singles championship for Moline residents.



Beginning practice indoors, Alan Van Hull and Pete Holm prepare for a rugged spring season.

Turfmen Undefeated; Girls Launch Team

Coached by Mr. Jack Dye, MHS turfmen ended the fall season undefeated. Only losing two boys by graduation, Moline's team this year consists of a very powerful and experienced top five players. Don Mason, Jim Jamison, Doug Willard, Craig Gober, and Bill Marthens.

Nightly practices after school kept the linksters in "tip-top" shape for their matches. Playing their practice rounds on the rough hills of Indian Bluff golf course, the powerful boys divide into foursomes for their nine-hole practice sessions.

Besides playing the local Quad-City teams, Moline golf enthusiasts also met with Clinton, Galesburg, Iowa City, Kewanee, Dubuque, and Washington and Jefferson of Cedar Rapids. In the spring they participated in the district and state tournaments and the Kewanee and Quincy Invitationals.

In Mississippi Valley Conference play, six golfers entered from each school, counting the scores of the four golfers with the lowest total as the team score.

For the year Doug Willard served as honorary team captain. In addition to the captain, Mason, Jamison, Gober and Marthens were awarded major letters by Coach Dye.

Under the supervision of Mr. Sam Drake, athletic director, a girls' golf team was organized last year. The girls interested gave their qualifications from which a team was chosen.

Preparing for their matches, the girls had a practice round at the Oakwood Country Club. They went on to participate in three Quad-City matches at the Arsenal, Oakwood and Davenport Clubs. Playing against the three local teams, they won second at Oakwood, and placed third in the other match. The girls played a nine-hole round. The school posting the lowest total score won.

From those qualifying for the team, five showed their skills at each meet. They were Judy Anderson, Sharon Benton, Sharon Blackburn, Bobbe Patterson and Diane Rose.

"And you made the golf team!" chuckles Sharon Blackburn to Bobbe Patterson, who does not seem to know the correct grip. Team members Sharon Benton, Diane Rose and Judy Anderson look on.

New Records Prove Worth of Senneff Pool

Straight as arrows flying through the air, Dave Wilson and John Theorell display their diving ability.

Don Ruggles, a possible All-America swimmer, pulls himself from the water after breaking the Illinois State record swimming the breast stroke in 1:07.6, missing the national record by .1 of a second.

Swimmers ready! Swimmers take your mark! Bang! At the sound of the starter's gun, energetic, determined boys plunged into the water to race their opponents.

Enjoying their first year in George Senneff Pool, the boys, under the guidance of Bob Bennett, started practice late in November. Practice included drills and swimming using only arms or legs. A distance of one and one-half miles a night was performed by the tanksters.

Carrying a full schedule, Moline met Tipton, Clinton, Muscatine, Burlington, Jefferson and Washington of Cedar Rapids, and Monmouth.

Moline also hosted the Mississippi Valley Conference in January with Jefferson, Washington, Clinton, Davenport, and Moline participating.

Included in the meets were a 50-yard sprint, 100-yard butterfly, 200-yard free style, 100-yard back stroke, 100-yard free style, 100-yard breast stroke, diving, 150-yard medley, 200-yard medley relay, and 303-yard relay.

Moline was fortunate to have two outstanding swimmers, Don Ruggles and Bruce Huston. Don broke records swimming the breast stroke, with a time of 1:09.1. Bruce broke records swimming the back stroke and individual medley.

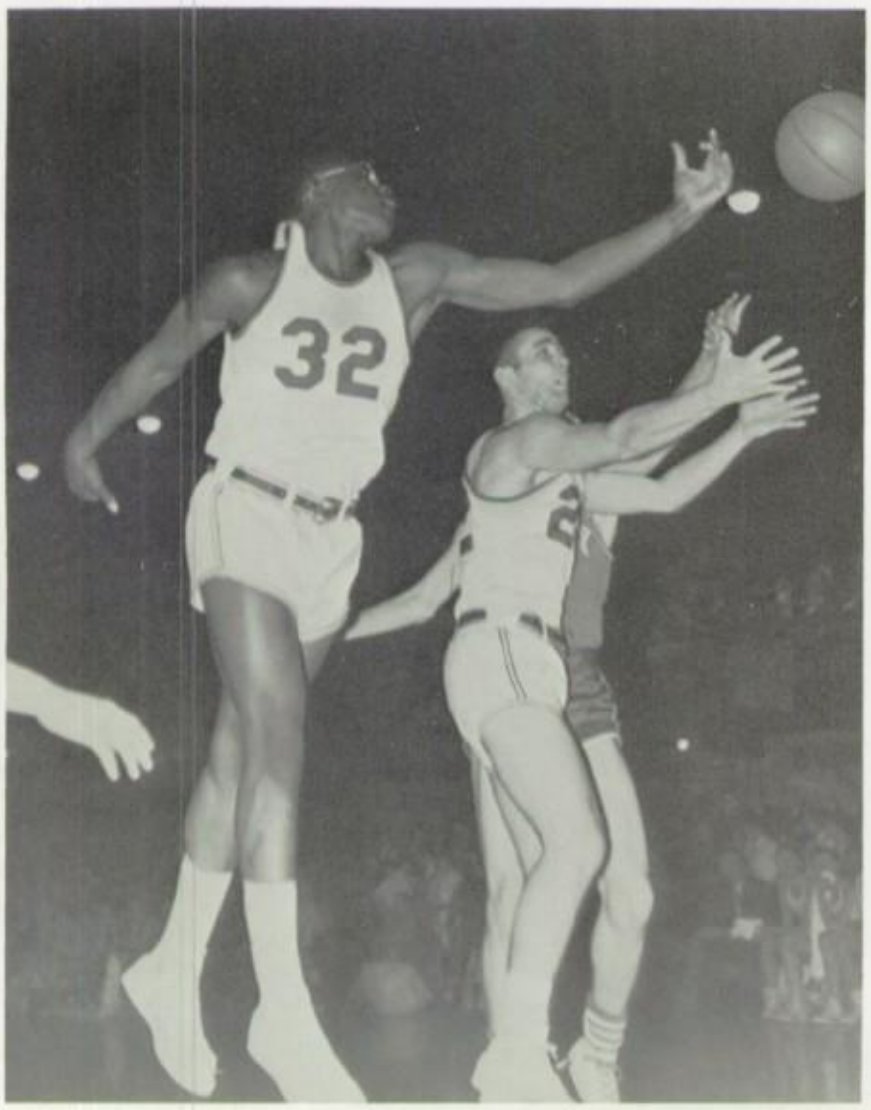
Little Maroons Clinch Conference Titles

"Please, come to me," pleads sophomore cagers John Anders and Jerry Duke in their unsuccessful attempt to pull down a rebound during their near perfect season.



Turning in another fine season, Coach Al Steven's Little Maroons captured the Mississippi Valley and Quad-City conference championships.

Beginning the season with a shaky 53—51 victory over the Pioneers of Alleman, the sophs gained confidence with a win in their second game. Riding on its 2—0 record, Moline encountered a tough Galesburg squad for their initial loss.

Moline picked up the pieces and accelerated to win 19 straight games to come up with a 21—1 season record.

Averaging six foot even, the sophs controlled the boards in all games. Gary Seamans and John Anders led the team in rebounding.

"This year's club was probably the most balanced team I've had," stated Coach Stevens. Jim Seeley, Jim Officer, Dick Goepel, Seamans and Anders all averaged from 10 to 13 points per game.

Jay Suverkrup, Jerry Duke, Denny Baraks, Seeley, Seamans, Anders, Officer, and Goepel saw action in the starting lineup. All of them helped the Maroons overcome a half-time deficit of 24—18 to outscore Clinton 20—3 in the third quarter and win the game 52—43.

In the Quad-City conference, Moline was undefeated. They beat Rock Island 47—34 and 59—48. Davenport was defeated 72—66 and 70—62. The Little Panthers were dealt two losses 62—50 and 58—44.

Shooting percentage honors for field goals went to Officer. Freethrow honors were bestowed on Seeley. Both Officer and Seeley saw double duty as they played in both sophomore and varsity games.

Record Number Participate in Intramurals

"You get his arms, I'll get his legs," prompts Alan Larsen, as Jerry Brotman and Doug Willard attempt to stymie top intramural scorer, Bill Haywood. These boys led the seniors in scoring.

Working as a group with its main emphasis on participation, boys' intramurals again carried out a successful basketball campaign.

At the beginning of the varsity basketball season, all boys not taking part in varsity or sophomore action were urged to join in the intramural program. Answering the call for players were a record 125 boys from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

From the group of participants, which were divided into sophomore-junior and senior leagues, captains were selected. Each captain chose his own team consisting of a total of fourteen members. Having the captain choose alternately enabeled the teams to be more equally balanced.

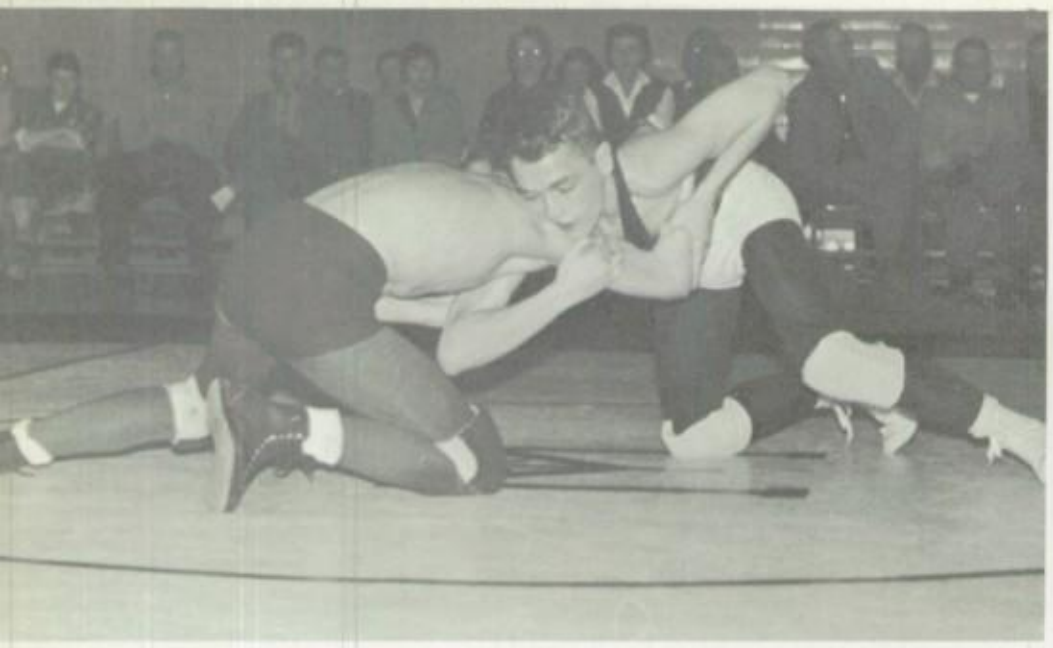
Unique in the program is the choice of nicknames by respective teams for use during the season. Among the oddities in the senior loop were the Zippers, the Apes, and the Beefs. Sophomore-junior teams were sparked by the variations of Goony-Maroonies, Rebels, and the Squids.

The series, under the guidance of Mr. Jack Coder and Mr. Fritz Boom, consisted of a round robin tournament in each league, in which all teams met each other at various times. Referees were volunteers from the different teams who did not have games, and a student assisted Mr. Coder and Mr. Boom by keeping all schedules, records, and statistics in order.

Terminating the season, league playoffs were held with those in each loop emerging as winners playing for the valor of MHS intramural basketball champions.

Stretching for the rebound during an intramural basketball contest, Neil Olsen and Dan DeCoster vie for their team's victory.

Displaying one of the rougher phases of boys' murals, Dan DeCoster throws a block into a group of teammates and opponents while Ref, Larry Spiegel, silently looks on.



With a tug, a push, and a pull, Dick Parrish eliminated his opponent and qualified for the sectional tournament.

Wiping up mats after a strenuous night's practice are the managers, John Parker, Mike Langbehn, Randy Munn, and Tom Martin. Coach Joe Vavrus looks on.

Varsity Squad Ends Season Successfully

From a sixty boy turnout in September, Coach Joe Vavrus chose twelve top notch wrestlers for his varsity squad. Consisting of nine returning lettermen, the MHS matmen ended a successful season with eleven wins, four losses, and one tie. This record put Moline's wrestlers fifth in the Mississippi Valley Conference, third in the quadrangular, and second in Davenport Invitational.

Bruce Peterson, 175 pound division, and Dave Hyland, heavyweight division, captured two first place ribbons in the Davenport Invitational to aid Moline to their tie for second place with Rock Island.

Practicing regularly after school in the new, fully equipped school gym, often the site of their exciting home matches, kept the boys in fine shape. Their spirit and mental and physical alertness have been distinguishing qualities retained by the struggling matmen.

To develop each boy's character in leadership, a different member of the team is selected as captain at each meet. Not until the end of the season do they choose an honorary captain.

The B team came up with a record of six wins and two losses. The sophomores, guided by Coach Gordon Taylor, ended the season with six wins and four losses.

Well-balanced Track

Gene Shipley again acted as track coach for the Maroon cindermen. The season opened on March 13 at the Mississippi Valley Indoor Meet at Iowa City. The squad consisted of quality in each event without many individuals excelling in each event. The squad practiced the first part of the season at the new high school, running in the hall corridors.

Two seniors, Tom Seitz and Bill Hill were the stronger sprinters participating in the 50-yard, 100-yard, and 220-yard dashes as well as relay teams. Outstanding distance men were Bill Burgess and Ron Gunn. In the hurdles, Jerry Horde and Kent Colburn excelled. Bob Gibson and Bob Hall were top-rate pole vaulters. Heaving the steel ball were Norm Aguirre and Dale Mott while discus throwers Robbie Helfrich and Ron Quade balanced out the weightmen. Springy Jim Klein and Charlie Officer held down high jump spots. Dave Jackson was top broad jump man for the year.

Improves, Spectator Views

Bill Bishop completed his fifth year as head coach of Moline's baseball squad with the help of assistant coach, Bill Baltzell, and sophomore coach Lou Nachbauer. The Maroons began practice in the middle of February and polished up for their first test of their twenty-four game schedule against Monmouth on April 4.

With the opening sessions of practice, Coach Bishop stated, "Prospects for a good season this year largely depend on the development of the pitching staff."

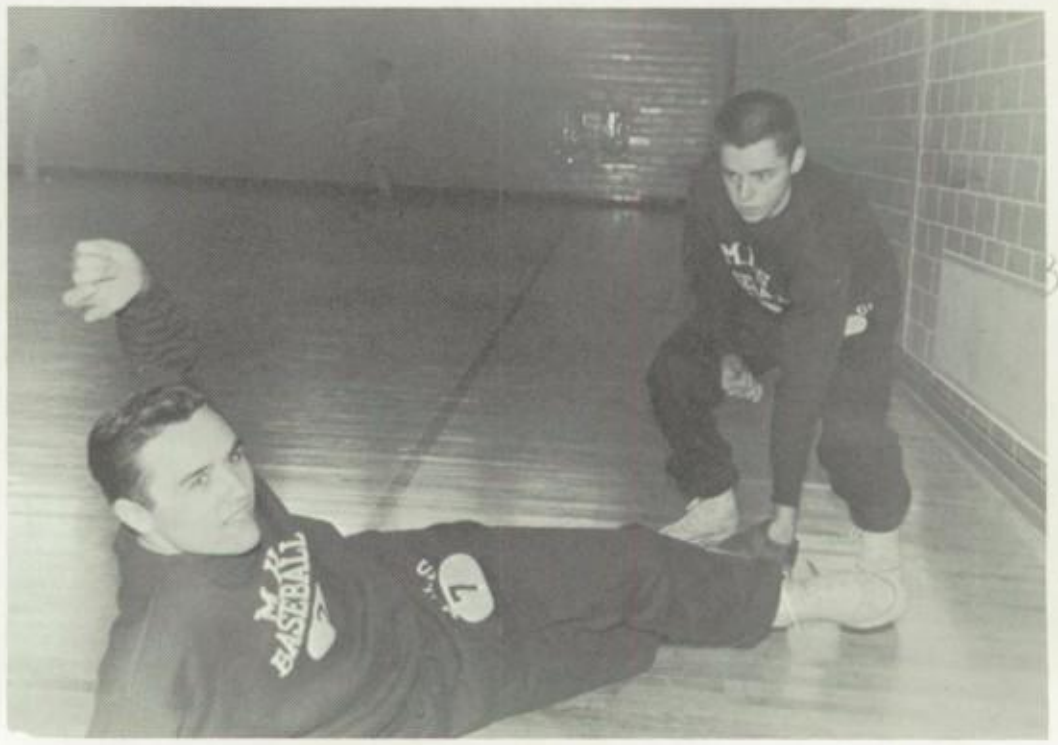
Senior hurler, Rich Jones, received backing in pitching responsibilities from Stan Romanowski, Curt Cook, Tom Roberts, and Mel Bowker, all juniors. Receiving the efforts of these were Bob Bryan, Earl Davis, and Jim Fitzpatrick, senior, junior, and sophomore respectively. Returning lettermen holding down infield and outfield positions were Neil Olsen, Larry Hultgren, Alan Larsen, and Gene Braggs.

With the added facilities at the new high school, the squad moved its headquarters from Browning Field. Until the snow cleared and the ground hardened, the boys worked out in the school gym. Wooden floors, windows, and lights did not keep the squad from practicing sliding and fielding. The last week of March the team moved outside to play on the diamond which they used for all home games.

The twenty-four regular season clashes included games with the other Quad-City schools, Alleman, Davenport, East Moline and Rock Island and also Monmouth, Dubuque, Galesburg, and Cedar Rapids.

Neil Olsen goes high in the air to grab a soaring fly ball while Alan Larsen perfects his skill in halting bouncing grounders.

Refreshing pitcher, Denny Cook's mind on the signals he uses is Bob Bryan, Maroon catcher.



Is Rich Jones really sliding to base or is he just showing off their new sweat clothes? Regardless of his intentions, he is being carefully watched by Gene Braggs.

There are plans that I must draw.

Then let this timid hand of mine
Be guided, line for line,
With that steady, certain trueness
Of the Hand that planned
This universe.

There are materials I must choose.

Then let this casual mind of mine
Choose with the wisdom of the Mind
That fixed the substances
Of things like grass and trees
And mountain peaks.

There are decisions I must make.

Then let me make them with that sureness
That divided land and sea,
And day and night, the birds that fly
And beasts that roam the field.

I've a future I must build

There's a determination I must have.

Then let me bind myself unto such things
As principles, and truth, and right
With that same permanence
That holds in their celestial places
The sun, and stars,
And all the heavens' gems.

I've a future I must build.

So, let me build it with such care,
Such tools, such wisdom,
And with such a rugged firmness,
That all the fiercest thrusts
Of host or elements
Cannot destroy it.

Aye, I've a future I must build . . .
Let me rise, then, to the task!

Hi Judy,
yes am I glad that English class is over. I don't think I could have lasted much longer. Good luck this summer and next year
Sandy W.

To Judy,
One of the
sweetest girls, who really has a great personality
Lots of luck in the future.
Karen A.

To Judy,
You're the best latin helper in the world.
and I'm so glad we are friends. You had a lot to do with why I passed latin.
Don't ever change. Have fun and don't do anything I wouldn't do. . .
Donna B.

To a real sweet girl who will go
a long way in life.
Love,
Joe Antonow

Dear Judy,
I wish it could be me to say this but, Judy, there is only one thing I can say that is the truth. You are a wonderful person all over. I'll never forget you and I'll always remember you as a friend. Love, Bill

Judy,
The best of everything to a really sweet girl. I'll be seeing a lot of you this summer at Rainbow so just say for now. Cathy C.

To a real good friend who I hope to see a lot of this summer
Love
Bill

Judy,
I've had truly
been wonderful having a sweet girl
like you as a girl friend. Having you around makes (made) things (a lot) brighter. I wish you lots and lots of luck always.
Love
Sandy J.

Well Judy,
this certainly has been fun this year.
What wonderful personality of yours really proved to be an asset this year.
Congratulations Queen.
Too bad. No more help before English class. Have a real swell time this summer.
I'm sure I'll see you. Lots of luck. Love. Marianne R.

To Judy,
One of the nicest girls I know. Linda H.

To Judy, sweet gal.
A real swell girl
I have enjoyed being associated with. Best friend
I hope we meet again. Have a real swell vacation.
Love,
Donna

Lenny

Judy - Luck to a real sweet girl.
Hope we can play golf together this summer or at least
see you at Oakwood.
Diane Rose

Good luck with year. Don't forget all the fun
we've had this year though.
Liz Carlson

To Judy -
You and Mase
make a helluva couple and you are nice and it has been well since you've me or I think it's me by
You. See you this summer.
It has been rough writing with miss. Young Dahl
Jerry Wallert

Dear Judy,
The best of Luck to you in all that you do in the future. The past year in typing and shorthand classes has really been brightened by your presence.
Love

Judy
Always remember our History class
And the fun we've had. Good Luck
this summer, see you next year.
Love
Sindy Hickerell

I won't bother you with a long "speech," but I want to say you are one of my best friends and that you are one of the cutest and nicest girls in this school.
Good Luck with your golf, whether it be pee-wee golf or the real thing.
Have Fun.
Dan Louden

To a real neat
~~Lost~~ Lots of luck
in your Senior year.
Mary D. M.

Judy,
It's been lots of fun this year, & hope to see you this summer.
I'll probably see you at the pool. Have fun this summer.
Pat Fontaine

To Judy—
It's really enjoyed getting to know you this year. Stay just as you are for you are "solo most." Be sure this summer & we'll see you next year.
